BRANDEIS GRILLS INTERIOR CHIEF

Glavis Counsel Sums Up the Case Made Against Mr.
Ballinger.

NOT A SAFE MAN FOR HIS POSITION

Strong Argument Made by the Lawyer in Noted Investigation.

Washington, May 27.—Lawyers for the "prosecution" in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation made their summing up arguments before the congressional committee today and in no uncertain terms declared that they had proved their "case" against Secretary Ballinger.

"His constant yielding under pressure makes him unfit for the office of secretary of the interior," exclaimed Attorney Brandeis, counsel for L. R. Glavis, who addressed the committee for two hours during the forenoon. Mr. Brandeis said that Mr. Ballinger lacked that quality of resoluteness which was so essential for a man in his position and that the only time there was ever any doubt as to what action he would take was when there was "pressure from both sides."

After criticizing Mr. Ballinger's actions in the Cunningham coal cases, Mr. Brandeis asked the committee "is such a man a safe trustee for the people's property?"

Not to Be Relied Upon.

He said it had been conclusively established that Ballinger was not a man so devoted to the interests of the people and so resolute in resisting these aggressions of special interests that he might be safely relied upon to carry on the broad policy of the conservation of our natural resources.

Senator Root, who departed for the Hague peace tribunal last week, was the only member of the committee absent when today's session began. None of the principals involved in the controversy was present. Before Mr. Brandeis began his argument, he offered in evidence a letter which he said Ballinger had addressed to Secretary Garfield at West Mentor, Ohio, on Sept. 13, 1908, making an appointment "regarding a matter pending in the Indian bureau, also one in the government land office."

Mr. Ballinger wrote that he was "at present in the pleasureable labor of assisting Judge Taft's candidacy."

Severe on the Secretary.

Brandeis referred to Ballinger's "assumed inability to remember" when on the witness stand and he charged that Ballinger intentionally evaded his questions. He denoted an opportunity to be heard and said but for this investigation, Glavis, "the ideal public servant," would have been permanently "condemned and held up to public disgrace without even knowledge that he had been preferred against him." He extolled Glavis and Stenographer Kerby as "two courageous young men who had refused to be disloyal to their government as the price of loyalty to their superior." He said they should have the admiration instead of the condemnation of the American people.

Pepper Gets After Him.

Mr. Pepper, counsel for former Forester Pinchot, charged that the course pursued by Secretary Ballinger had been characterized by a lack of fidelity to the public interest, that Ballinger was actually responsible for the "entire series of unhappy events," and that the president had been deceived as to the real significance of what was happening in the department.

In opening argument before the Ballinger-Pinchot committee Attorney Vertrees, counsel for Ballinger, made a scathing denunciation of the press for its attitude toward this case, and said the only command the newspaper man seemed to obey was "give us this day our daily bread."

Lauds Glavis and Pinchot.

Mr. Brandeis spoke for about two hours, reserving half an hour for closing after Attorney Vertrees had addressed the committee on behalf of Mr. Ballinger. He referred to Mr. Glavis as "the ideal public servant" and to Gifford Pinchot as "a man of character so high as to be even above the suspicion of self-seeking." He vigorously defended the action of Stenographer Frederick M. Kerby in making public confidential information of the interior department bearing on the preparation of the Lawler memorandum and said "to criticize Kerby for this act involves a total misconception of the nature of our government."

"The secretary of the interior, the trustee for the people of the public domain, should have the ability to stand up against every one and should be vigilant," declared Mr. Brandeis. "Would any one think of dubbing our present secretary 'Stonewall' Ballinger? Instead of being unswerving he yields to pressure, yields to it not only in acts, but also in statement, he is written or spoken."

A Struggle for Democracy.

"This investigation has been referred to as a struggle for conservation, a struggle against the special interest. It is that, but it is far more. In its essence, it is the struggle for democracy, the struggle for the small man against the overpowering influence of the big; politically as well as financially. The struggle to establish that every American is entitled to equal justice—in the public service as well as in the courts—that no official is so highly stationed that he may trample ruthlessly and unjustly upon even the humblest American citizen. The cause of Glavis is the cause of the common people and more especially the cause of hundreds of thousands of government officials."

FUNERAL PROCESSION FOR KING EDWARD IN LONDON.

LIKELY TO CALL THE SOLONS BACK

New York Legislature May be Given Extra Session
by Gov. Hughes.

WANTS HIS DIRECT NOMINATIONS LAW

Legislature That Was Full of Bribery Sensations Adjourns.

Albany, N. Y., May 27.—With visions of being called back into extra session because of their failure to enact such electoral reforms as are advocated by Governor Hughes, two hundred tired legislators prepared to leave for their homes today.

Starting with the most sensational bribery trial in the legislative annals of the state and ending in a red hot fight over the various direct primary measures, the session which ended at noon today was one of the most strenuous in years.

Hughes Loses Out on Favorite.

As a result Governor Hughes fails to secure his pet direct nominations scheme, but has obtained favorable legislation on all his other more important recommendations. These include the state's refusal to endorse the proposed income tax amendment to the federal constitution—a resolution calling for a general investigation of corrupt practices; the placing of telephone and telegraph companies under supervision of the public service commission, second district; strengthening the laws against race track gambling; acceptance by the state of the Harriman park gift and the further extension of the Palisades park system; a proposed constitutional amendment looking to the development of water power within the forest preserve; a law recognizing the principle of an employers' liability; more stringent measures for the suppression of the white slave traffic and important reforms in the insurance and banking laws.

BUICK AND JACKSON CARS WERE ALL WITHDRAWN

The Indianapolis Speedway
Management Had to Fix
Up a Race Row.

Indianapolis, May 27.—All Buick and Jackson cars entered in the three days' race meet that opened today at the speedway were withdrawn before the first event was called and the refunding of the entrance money was demanded because the technical committee had barred several cars on the charge that they were not properly classified.

After a conference with the management of the speedway and officials of the A. A. A., the managers of the Buick and Jackson cars decided to allow their entries to stand.

While going about eighty miles an hour in a practice run before the first event was called, Oldfield, driving a Knox, broke while making the turn on the back stretch of the track. The car was thrown upon the embankment, but Oldfield escaped injury.

Big Crowd There.

The three days' program on the Indianapolis speedway, with a field of sixty starters, was inaugurated before a great crowd in which were automobile enthusiasts from all over the country, attracted by the names of the celebrated drivers and the expectation that records would be smashed on the new two and one-half mile course, the only brick track in the world.

By noon the grandstands were thronged, the parking spaces animated by many parties in touring cars and the pits busy with drivers and mechanics grooming their powerful speed machines for the desperate contests for supremacy in the events scheduled for the day.

All possible safeguard had been made against repetition of the fatal accidents that marked the races at the speedway last summer.

For Safety of Spectators. A cement retaining wall had been built along the upper edge of the course near the stands to prevent cars crashing into the crowd of spectators if wheels should break or tires rip.

The track ground to the smoothness of a floor, offered no resistance to all the speed the drivers could force from their motors. A hundred-mile race presented the greatest test of endurance on the card for today. Twelve cars were entered.

The other events were four, five and ten miles. The several classifications of stock classes, cars from 160 to 500 cubic inches piston displacement, were represented in five events, all with many entrants. Speed trials and a free-for-all handicap with twenty-six cars entered completed the program.

Some of the Results.

The first event run was for ten miles, cars of 231 to 300 cubic inches displacement. Harroun, (Marmon) won; second, Dawson (Marmon); third, Fox (Pope). Time 8:16.08.

With a sensational burst of speed in the stretch, Klineald (National), won

SMALL CHANCE FOR MEN IN SUNKEN SUBMARINE

All Efforts to Raise the French Diver So Far
Have Failed.

Calais, May 27.—The French submarine Pluviose, with her crew of 27 dead, is today a vagrant in the underwaters of the English channel. For hours the divers had struggled to reach and prepare the way for the raising of the 450 ton weight war craft which under the swift lower current, shook herself free from her mud moorings and drifted away. Late this afternoon the Pluviose had not been located and here whereabouts in the great shipping thoroughfare was a matter of conjecture.

After being struck by the cross-channel steamer Psa de Calais, two miles off here yesterday the submarine rose to the surface for a moment and then sank to the bottom of the channel, more than a hundred feet below the surface, and where she remained fast until released by the action of the swift waters this afternoon.

Admiral R. de la Payrere, minister of marine, is on the scene personally directing the work. The appearance of the submarine on the surface for a brief period following the accident is attributed by navy experts to a desperate attempt of her commander to operate the flooding machinery.

Saw the Periscope.

The channel steamer Psa de Calais sighted the periscope of the Pluviose some seventy feet ahead and tacked, but too late to avoid a collision. The lookout, who first saw the periscope, said today that he had never seen such an instrument before and mistook it for a buoy. The report that the Pluviose was operating beneath the channel steamer in furtherance of its practice in torpedoing passing vessels is not generally credited.

Hospitality of South
Wholly Untrue.

Washington, May 27.—President Taft today sent to Chairman Tawney, of the house committee on appropriations, a letter expressing deep resentment at the criticisms passed by demonstrators in the house debate yesterday upon the traveling expenses of the president.

The president says he is especially distressed by "suggested reflection on southern hospitality."

The President's Letter.

The letter was as follows:
"The White House, Washington, May 27, 1910. My Dear Mr. Tawney—I am deeply grieved over the phase which the discussion of the appropriation for the traveling expenses of the president took yesterday. I think it is a legitimate argument in favor of such an appropriation that congressmen and many others press the acceptance of invitations to visit their sections and districts, because the urgency of such requests indicates the opinion on the part of the people that one of the duties of the president is to visit the people in their homes. But the intimation or suggestion that the acceptance by congressmen of the president's invitation to travel on the train with him in their respective districts or states was a reason why they should not vote their free opinion on the question of such an appropriation is to me a most painful one. Gives Him Much Pain. "In travelling upon the train they

HERESY CHARGE IS NOT SUSTAINED IN ASSEMBLY

Judiciary Committee Puts in Comprehensive Report and Peace Broods.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 27.—The general assembly of the Presbyterian church, by unanimous vote, today adjudged that the heresy complaint brought against the synod of New York had not been sustained.

This action was taken on the recommendation of the judicial committee of the assembly. The case involved three students of the Union Theological seminary who were alleged to have denied, among other things, the virgin birth of Christ. They denied the allegations and declared they were not prepared to affirm the immaculate conception with positiveness.

Two of the students were licensed by the New York Presbytery and a complaint was taken to the New York synod, which took no action. The case was then appealed to the general assembly.

The commission suggests that the general assembly make a public delivery enjoining Presbyteries to hereafter use great care in the examination of candidates in order that men of immature or unsettled views be placed under observation until their views are "brought into full harmony with the word of God as interpreted by our standards."

UNITED PRESBYTERIANS.

Philadelphia, May 27.—Consideration of the reports on ministerial relief, church publications and Sunday schools took up most of today's sessions of the general assembly of the United Presbyterian church now meeting in this city.

The various committees of the assembly today are at work on the questions referred to them yesterday. Among the more important of these are closer relations with other Presbyterian churches, that part to be played among the working classes, revision of the book of Psalms and a change in the book of church government. Until these reports have been made on Monday or Tuesday next the assembly will consider only church matters of a routine nature.

Shortly after the opening of the trial today when the prosecution announced that it rested its case, counsel for Walker, Halligan and Voelker withdrew their former pleas of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty to all the charges. Sentence was deferred. Court was then adjourned until next Tuesday.

JURY GIVES WOMAN BIG VERDICT AT BLUFFTON

Mrs. Ault Awarded $5,300 for the Loss of One of Her Legs.

A jury at Bluffton that heard the suit of Catherine Ault against the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company, returned a verdict this morning awarding her $5,300 damages for the loss of one of her legs.

On the night of November 3 Mrs. Ault, in company with her husband and another woman, was returning from a religious meeting and was walking across St. Mary's river bridge, on the Nickel Plate road, when a switch engine ran the party down. The husband was killed and Mrs. Ault sustained injuries that resulted in the loss of her right leg. The suit was instituted in the local courts and taken to Bluffton on a change of venue.

ASBURY ELECTED INDIANA G. A. R. HEAD

Defeat of Judge Samuel M.
Hench, of Fort Wayne,
is Unexpected.

WINNER SURPRISED BY HIS VICTORY

Veterans Demand Dollar a Day Pension and Oppose Lee Statue.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 27.—A. P. Ashbury, of Farmersburg, was today elected commander of the Indiana Department of the Grand Army of the Republic, defeating Judge Samuel M. Hench, of Fort Wayne, whose election had been regarded as practically a foregone conclusion.

The defeat of Judge Hench was accomplished under peculiar circumstances.

All through the balloting the sentiment appeared strongly in favor of the up-state man, and great surprise was manifested when the count showed that Ashbury had been elected. Hench made no comment further than to congratulate the winner. Ashbury seemed to be the most surprised man in the convention.

A. P. Ashbury, elected commander, has both a war and civil record, which makes him a man fitted for the position. He was born in Sullivan county, Dec. 1, 1846.

Other elections were as follows: Senior vice commander, Oscar Rankin, Terre Haute; Junior vice commander, Milton Rozart, Valparaiso; chaplain, Captain J. Ward, Delphi.

Counsel of administration: O. A. Somers, Kokomo; C. C. Shadrer, Evansville; J. E. Daugherty, Monticello; J. E. Bleckle, Terre Haute.

For Dollar a Day Pension.

The delegates voted almost unanimously in favor of the dollar a day pension bill, "one in which there is no service restriction and gives a pension to every man sworn in, though he served but a day."

Protest Against Lee Statue.

The state encampment adopted by unanimous vote a memorial to the nation encampment, protesting against the placing of the statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee in statutory hall, at Washington. The same memorial also protested against the use of the Jefferson Davis silver service on the battleship Mississippi. A memorial to abandon memorial day as a legal holiday was defeated by a large vote.

W. R. C. Election.

The Woman's Relief Corps elected the following officers:
Department President—Dr. Alta Boram, South Bend.

BROWN WILL SERVE FROM 2 TO 21 YEARS

State Accepts Negro's Plea of Guilty—The Court
News.

In the circuit court this afternoon Prosecutor A. E. Thomas accepted, on behalf of the state, the plea of Earl Brown, charged with killing Emmett Williams, and on a charge of voluntary manslaughter he was sentenced to from two to fourteen years in the prison at Michigan City.

Brown found Williams in a room with his wife about six weeks ago and shot and killed him and was arrested a short time afterward. He also shot the woman, but did not wound her seriously and was in his own room with her at the time of his arrest. He was formerly porter at C. E. Bryson's barber shop and had always enjoyed an excellent reputation, but had had trouble with the woman and was not living with her at the time.

Investigation indicated to the prosecutor that he could not convict him
of a more serious crime and in order to save the expense of a long trial he decided to accept the plea. He was sentenced at once and will be taken to prison immediately.

Suit Against a Doctor.
Ella White as next friend to her son, Edward Drowery, has entered suit in the superior court against Dr. Ralph
M. Bolman, demanding $1,500 damages for malpractice. She states that the lad fell from a pile of railroad ties in November, 1909, and broke his left arm. Dr. Bolman attended him and she charges that as the result of faulty treatment the elbow is stiff and the wound became infected and the hand is drawn up as a result. Emrick & Emrick filed the suit.

Given a Decree.
In the superior court Clara Watkins was given a divorce decree from John W. Watkins in her cross-complaint.
She was also given the custody of their minor children with an allowance for their support and $500 alimony.

Court Notes.
Morris Levy has brought suit in the circuit court against members of the Retail Clerks' union for $2,500 damages. He was arrested not long ago on a warrant charging him with selling goods on Sunday and was acquitted. He thinks he has been damaged $2,500 worth. H. L. Smith filed the suit.

A. M. Jacobs, president of the Noble county bank at Kendallville, is in the

EVANS DECIDES THE FINE IS ABOUT RIGHT

Then Concludes He Will Pay
His Money—City
Court Cases.

Under the name of George Evans, assumed when he was caught in the Ross house raid Sunday night, a Wabash boilermaker paid a fine of $12,
and costs in the city court today after announcing that he would make a fight in the upper court. This announcement was made in the face of the fact that the woman he was charged with associating with had pleaded guilty to being of the kind that the law says men must not associate with.

All of the others had pleaded guilty and Evans was the last of the lot. He got a ten day sentence, but it was suspended and he paid his fine and costs.

Chauncey Downey, a traveling salesman, took occasion to grossly insult a woman at Columbia and Calhoun streets last night and a young barber,
who gave the name of Earl Williams, was arrested with him because he "took a poke" at Downey after he had been arrested. The judge gave Downey a grilling and fined him $5 and costs and let Williams go.

George Brown, Hugh Monahan and William O'Neil, the latter a cripple, who had begged enough money to buy himself a jag, were each fined $1 and costs and Fred Grose was let go.

John Kissinger, the Columbia City lad who stole a suit of clothes from
O. A. Hoover's place on Clinton street, was held to the circuit court under a bond of $200 on a burglary charge.

Howard W. Markley was acquitted
in a surety of the peace case and Judge Mungovan took the case against George Haite under advisement. This was tried yesterday.

COSNA NOME ELUDES POLICE; STILL AT LARGE

Thorough Search Fails to Locate the Macedonian Fugitive.

Although the police have made a thorough search of the Macedonian quarters in the city and have used every means to watch all of the avenues of escape from Fort Wayne, Cosna Nome, the laborer who made a murderous assault upon Thomas Toomey
at the Bass foundry yesterday morning, is still at large.

Two officers were sent east yesterday afternoon to New Haven and they walked back along the railroad tracks and kept a careful watchout for their man. He was not sighted and it is believed that he is still in the city and is being hidden by some of his countrymen.

In the meantime Mr. Toomey is doing well at the hospital and the only danger now lies in some complication that may arise. If there is no blood poisoning from the wound in the arm
it is believed that he will fully recover from the effects of the severe beating he received.

BIG PETITION NOW READY TO SEND TO BOARD

Nebraska Folk Will Hold
Final Tunnel Meeting
This Evening.

Bearing the signatures of hundreds of residents of Nebraska and the contiguous territory, the petition to the board of public works asking for the opening of a street beneath the Nickel Plate tracks leading from Nebraska to the section north is ready for presentation. At a meeting of Nebraska folk to be held this evening at Bethany Presbyterian church a committee will be chosen to submit the petition to the municipal authorities.

Tremendous enthusiasm and widespread interest is behind the recent movement of Nebraska residents for improved conditions in that section of the city, and the proposed tunnel beneath the railroad tracks is but the beginning of the improvements for which residents of that district will strive. There is no disposition to work undue hardship or override the rights of any person or corporation in the matter, and leaders of the movement say they are anxious to counsel with both the Nickel Plate railroad and with industrial concerns there in the selection of the street to be opened beneath the railway tracks.

HOFFMAN IS OUT AS AN INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE

Auburn Lawyer in Race for DeKalb-Steuben Circuit.

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Auburn, Ind., May 27.—P. V. Hoffman, of this city, one of the most prominent attorneys of DeKalb county, today made formal announcement through the Auburn papers of his independent candidacy for the office of judge of the circuit court for the counties of DeKalb and Steuben.

Mr. Hoffman, who has always been a Republican, was a candidate for the republican nomination for the office, but in the convention, held last week at Waterloo, was defeated. H. W. Mountz, of Garrett, receiving the nomination.

Hoffman had made an active fight for the nomination, but in the primaries he was beaten. He recognized that he was beaten after the convention met at Waterloo and before the ballot was taken, left the convention hall and came home. Then Mr. Mountz was nominated by acclamation.

In his statement published in the papers today Mr. Hoffman says he was defeated unfairly, that false stories were circulated concerning him in that he was held up as being the candidate of the "wets." He says he was the candidate of no faction and that he believes in the enforcement of the liquor laws now on the statute books.

It is said here that a certain element in the democratic party is back of the movement bringing out Mr.
Hoffman as an independent candidate and that an effort will be made to have the democrats refrain from making a nomination for circuit judge. This it is thought would give him the united support of the democrats and that enough Republicans would vote for him
to insure his overwhelming election.

Mr. Hoffman is an able lawyer,
qualified in every way for the position of judge, and, being a fighter from away back, he is going to make the contest for judge at the coming election a mighty interesting one.

CITY BREVITIES.

Mrs. Wm. Hengy, of South Whitley,
was in the city today the guest of Mrs.
Ella Allen and Mrs. Mary Fritchard.

Ralph Thomas, of Auburn, the sheriff of DeKalb county, was in the city today looking for a man who stole the horse of Ezra Brand, of Fairfield township, in DeKalb. The sheriff recovered the horse at Kendallville of a party to whom it had been sold. The thief, whom the sheriff knows, it was thought, had come to Fort Wayne.

Ernest Scheiman, of Denver, Col., has arrived in the city to attend the funeral of his mother, which will be held on Sunday.

William E. Quinn, of Chicago, has arrived in the city to attend the funeral services of his father, the late Michael Quinn.

A staff of expert tree surgeons from the Davey Institution will arrive in the city in a few days to take up work here that will probably occupy the greater part of the summer.

WANTED TO SEE CITY NAMED FOR MAD ANTHONY

Mrs. Williams, English Lady
on World Tour, Visits
Fort Wayne.

Expressly to see the city named for General Anthony Wayne and to visit a spot the history of which appealed to her, Mrs. Williams, an English woman, who is making a circuit of the globe, spent Thursday night and a portion of today in Fort Wayne. Mrs.
Williams was a guest at the Anthony hotel, where she registered from Roanemouth, England.

The traveler reached the city
Thursday evening and early today sought information by which she was enabled to visit the site of the old fort and other points of historical interest about the city. A woman of middle age, clearly of superior education and of marked refinement and culture, Mrs. Williams manifested much familiarity with the history of Mad Anthony Wayne and his operations, and she explained that some of her early ancestors were allied with that famous soldier in his expedition into the west, which led to the establishing of the pioneer army outpost at this point.

Mrs. Williams is traveling alone.
She purposes a circuit of the globe,

and has already visited New York and Boston, going from thence to Montreal, Quebec and Toronto and from thence to Buffalo. In her quest for Fort Wayne as the next place of interest to be visited, Mrs. Williams was here misled and was sent to Detroit, where the army post of Fort Wayne is located. She discovered the error quickly enough and came from Detroit to Fort Wayne. Mrs. Williams left at noon for St. Louis, and after continuing her journey westward to the Pacific coast will sail for Australia.

were not receiving my hospitality—
they were only making a little more elaborate the cordial welcome which they, as representatives of their districts, wished to give.

"The feature of the discussion yesterday which was especially distressing to me, was a suggested reflection on southern hospitality. The intimation that somewhere in the south
board was charged has no foundation in fact, and I never heard it intimated until I saw it in this morning's paper.

"In all my experience, and I have enjoyed hospitality of many sections and countries of the world, I never had a more cordial, generous, open and lavish welcome than I had in the southern states during my trip and the slightest hint that puts me in the attitude of a critic of that hospitality gives me great pain.

"I am going to take the liberty of making this letter to you public.
"Very sincerely yours,
"WM. H. TAFT."

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

PASTOR WILL WED
AN OSSIAN GIRL

Surprised Trustees of His Church by Announcement of Approaching Marriage.

Ossian, Ind., May 27.—At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Ossian Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon Rev. W. E. Hunter, the pastor of the congregation, surprised the members of the board by the announcement of his approaching marriage, on June 5th, to Miss Opal Roe, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Roe, of this city.

Miss Roe is a young lady who has been prominent in social and church and society circles. She is a graduate of the Ossian high school and attended Presbyterian hospital training school for nurses at Chicago.

Rev. Mr. Hunter came to Ossian about a year ago to accept the pastorate of the Presbyterian church at that place, and his first year has been marked with success. He is a graduate of the McCormick seminary at Chicago, from which institution he came to the Ossian church.

UNIQUE DIPLOMAS

To Be Given Graduates of Decatur High School.

Decatur, Ind., May 27.—The diplomas to be given to the sixteen graduates of the Decatur high school at the commencement this evening bear a marked change in style from those of former years, which have been printed on sheepskin in large form for framing. The diplomas are printed on a fine quality of paper, double the size of a book leaf bearing the regulation wording. These are folded and enclosed in leather covers similar to a book. When folded the first page, which is one-half of the back of the diploma, shows the names of the sixteen graduates, while on the last page is printed, "Class motto, 'Climb, Though the Rocks be Rugged,' " and "Class flower, the Violet." The cover is of white leather with purple satin finish lining. On the outside cover, in gold letters is the name of the graduate, and "Class of 1910." The tints carry out the high school colors, purple and gold. The diplomas bear the signatures of the school board and the teachers.

WAS HORRIBLY BURNED.

Poured Coal Oil Into Cook Stove to Rekindle Fire.

Hartford City, Ind., May 27.—Pouring coal oil in the kitchen stove, Mrs. Eric Jenner, living on East North street, in the old fair grounds, was frightfully burned Thursday morning when an explosion followed, setting fire to her clothing. The woman's condition is serious and her injuries may prove fatal. In attempting to rescue his wife, the husband was also burned on the hands.

Unaware that there were smoldering coals in the range, Mrs. Jenner poured a quantity of oil into the stove to enable her to start the fire more quickly. When the oil came in contact with the live coals there was an explosion and flames enveloped the woman. From waist to feet her clothing was burned off completely, the flesh on her hands and legs being horribly seared. Her hands were burned so badly that the woman will have little use of them if she recovers.

ARREST OF KISSINGER.

The Account of It as Told at Columbia City.

Columbia City, Ind., May 27.—John Kissinger, the seventeen-year-old son of Mrs. George Harshbarger, of the east part of the city, was arrested Thursday morning by Marshal Hull and Merchant Police Lewis Wahl on the charge of burglary. The offense was committed in Fort Wayne Wednesday evening, and Detective Sergeant Wm. F. Pappert suspected the accused and requested the local officers to make the arrest.

Officer Pappert arrived in the city at noon and proceeded to put the accused young man through the sweatbox. The prisoner confessed that he and an employee of the Ora A. Hoover tailoring establishment had been out for a time, and when the tailor lay down for a nap, Kissinger took the keys for the store, and after unlocking the place, took a new suit that met his fancy.

ONLY TWO CHANGES.

Teachers for Next Year in Columbia City Schools.

Columbia City, Ind., May 27.—Superintendent J. S. Sanders, of the city schools, Thursday announced the list of teachers who have been employed by the school board for the coming year. The grades will have the same teachers with the exception of the seventh and eighth grade department, where there will be two changes. John Maguire will attend college next year and Miss Flossie Beezley will marry in June and the vacancies occasioned by their withdrawal will be filled by O. L. Pence, who was stationed at the south ward this year and will take the place of the principal, and Fred Conkling, who taught in Troy township last year take his place. Miss Beezley's place will be filled by Miss Salva Davis, of Charleston, Illinois. Miss Davis has had four years of successful experience in the schools of her native state and is a graduate of the Eastern Illinois normal school.

WANT INTERURBAN EXTENDED.

Decatur, Ind., May 27.—The Fort Wayne and Springfield Interurban may be extended south this summer. It is stated that the company has been assured of the necessary money to build the line from here to Monroe, a distance of six miles, provided Decatur and Washington townships would vote an additional subsidy of $15,000, making a total of $20,000, as a $5,000 subsidy was voted them two years ago. It is probable that a petition for an election will be filed at the meeting of the county commissioners on June 6, and the election will probably be held July 1.

BLIND TIGER MEN
HIT PRETTY HARD

Five Guilty Ones Given Fines of $100 Each and Suspended Jail Sentences.

Elkhart, Ind., May 27.—"Blindtigerism" in Elkhart received a hard blow yesterday in the superior court when five defendants, arrested on recent grand jury indictments, pleaded guilty and were fined $100 and costs each and given suspended jail sentences of six months.

This action was brought about when the accumulation of evidence against Charles Meeley, proprietor of the Standard hotel and the first of the "blind tiger" defendants to go to trial, became so formidable that the defense saw nothing but conviction ahead.

It became apparent that Meeley and the other defendants, Louis B. Tracy, Arthur Chapman, Charles Schmidt and George Andrews, would enter pleas of guilty, after a series of conferences resulted in an agreement for the suspension of the jail sentences.

Members of the Ministerial association and representatives of the "Law and Order League" were approached by Prosecutor Burris, to whom it is said the defense had made a proposition for settlement, that the accused might escape possible jail sentences.

The conditions of the proposed settlement were stated to the ministers by Prosecutor Burris and they agreed that the ends of justice probably would be equally as well served with the suspended sentence.

A REWARD OF $1,000.

Will Pay That for Conviction of Barbed Wire Culprit.

Piercetown, Ind., May 27.—A reward of $1,000 has been offered for the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who stretched the barbed wire across the public highway between Warsaw and Piercetown Tuesday night that led to the wrecking of the automobile of Mr. Dill, a Piercetown man. The automobile association of Indianapolis is back of the offer.

PROSPEROUS OSSIAN.

Not a Vacant House, Large or Small, There.

Ossian, Ind., May 27.—Mrs. Janette Minehart, who for more than a year has been conducting a private hotel in a portion of the old Craig house, quit business Monday and returned to Fort Wayne. Mrs. Minehart was forced to retire from the hotel business because she could not procure a suitable house. In fact there is not a vacant house, small or large, in Ossian. Mr. Plummer, the owner of the building, wanted possession of the premises so he could remodel the place. The only thing left for Mrs. Minehart to do was to return to Fort Wayne. The closing of this private boarding house and the closing of the Cramer restaurant leaves Ossian without a hostelry.

Bowel Tonic
For Old Folks
Free

No matter how sound and healthy old people are they still suffer with their bowels. The machinery of the system doesn't work as it did when they were young and active. But while you can't restore youth you can help age to live more pleasantly.

A laxative is needed every little while by people as they get around fifty and beyond, there is no doubt, but it is important which laxative is taken. Old people, women and all, need those who are in the prime of life should avoid anything that gives a shock to the system and which at best is but a temporary expedient. Among these are pills and cathartic tablets, salts and purgative waters. They are too strong and only do temporary good. Not only that, but they really bind the bowels next day.

What you want is something that will regulate the bowels and again get them in the habit of performing their certain function at a certain time, while at the same time toning and strengthening the muscles of the stomach and bowels. Such a remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Elyps Pepsin, and if you have never used it let the doctor send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it without cost. All druggists sell it at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and those who have used it will continue to buy it. It is pleasant to take, very effective and very economical as a household remedy, as all the family can use it. Dr. Caldwell is eager to have all readers unacquainted with it to send for a free sample.

Thousands of old people and heads of families are never without it, for in this way they cure and avoid constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, sour stomach, sick headache, sleeplessness after eating, belching and similar stomach, liver and bowel disturbances. Mrs. Tillie Homan, 404 Westanga street, Knoxville, Tenn., and T. H. Marshall, Nall, Okla., as well as thousands of others, attribute much of their present good health to this grand laxative tonic.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 504 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

After a grilling battle in primaries Marion county is now promised the elections of several contests.

New York legislature has adjourned after having done much and a good many. The biggest thing it has done, however, is to show how bad New York legislatures are.

Half a score of sugar trust employees have confessed their part in the frauds by which the government was swindled out of millions of dollars of customs dues. Can it appear reasonable to any sane mind that they were committing these crimes in the interests of anybody else. It will have much to do determining what Senator Lorimer has to say. It is not kind to press the junior senator from Illinois for a statement. Anything he could say now might turn out later to be previous.

Now and then develops a tragedy to remind man that his conquest of the elements is far from achieved and that it is just as perilous to sail beneath the sea as it is to fly above the earth. The shocking accident to the French submarine boat Pluviose emphasizes the extreme danger there is in below the surface navigation of the sea. An accident to the controlling devices of a submarine boat is pretty apt to be fatal to all those cooped up in the craft as the mishap to the Pluviose and other diving vessels has proved. The same is true of the new art of aviation. When one of the flimsy aeroplanes goes wrong the aviator has little chance.

News from the national capital brings the distressing details of a break between Senator Aldrich, who bosses the upper branch of congress, and Senator Hale, who helps him do it. The nominal occasion is a mere trifle, but the true cause lies deeper and is said to rest on Aldrich's announcement that he would no more be a candidate for the senate, a decision he arrived at and made public without consulting the Maine statesman, who feels that the necessities of his own position in politics were made vastly more difficult by the moral effect of the Aldrich retirement to private life. Pity enough, but there are precedents. Even Napoleon could not always please his marshals.

Operating 24,000 miles of track and carrying more than three hundred millions of passengers the Pennsylvania railroad calls attention to its record of having in the two years covered by the report killed but one passenger. That is a record that summarizes all that can be said for progressive and humane railroadings. It speaks volumes for the effort that has been made and the money expended and the human ingenuity taxed to insure safety of life on the lines of the Great Pennsylvania railroad system. If all railway systems were managed upon the same plane of intelligence and liberality American railways would not have, as they do have, the worst record in all the world for the slaughter of their passengers.

The New York legislature has adjourned and to the last refused to give ratification to the income tax amendment to the federal constitution. In so far as the income tax matter is concerned the legislature was dominated chiefly by Governor Hughes, who is a violent opponent of such a means of levying taxes. He had the very able assistance of some big corporations, else it is more than likely that the amendment would have been ratified, for it was defeated by a narrow margin. The failure of New York to ratify the amendment does not greatly affect the status of the constitutional change. That state is one of the half dozen that all along have been counted against the amendment. Still, it would have been of great moral value had the state supposedly most hostile to an income tax been among those to endorse it. It is important enough to repeat that the legislature came mighty near doing it, too.

ALASKA'S SCANDALS ARE DETAILED IN THE SENATE

Charges Bring in the Great Guggenheims and Their Control of Lands.

Washington, May 27.—Charges of a sensational character involving the great Guggenheim interests and the extent of their alleged control over Alaska have been filed with the judicial committee of the senate in connection with the nomination of John Rustgard and H. L. Faulkner to be district attorney and United States marshal respectively for the Juneau district of the northwestern territory.

The Guggenheim interests are alleged to have used political influence to obtain the removal of the president of John J. Boyce and Daniel A. Sutherland from the offices named to prevent them from defending the United States in its efforts to save the Cunningham coal claims from those interests.

It will be recalled that these claims figured largely in the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

Court Corruption Charged. It is alleged further that the Guggenheim interests have endeavored to have in the offices of judge, marshal and district attorney at Juneau men who would prevent the indictment and punishment of their agents for bribing jurors and witnesses in order to facilitate the escape of other agents who acted criminally in their behalf.

If these allegations can be substantiated, and the list is lifted from the secret sessions of the committee conducting the investigation into the appointment of Rustgard and Faulkner after the summary removal of their predecessors, the disclosures, it is said, will astound the country.

In support of the charges James Wickersham, Alaskan delegate in congress, former District Attorney Boyce and former Marshal Sutherland were again heard behind closed doors today and submitted evidence intended to back up their protest against the confirmation of Rustgard and Faulkner.

Charge Plot to Thwart Justice. They allege that the removal of Sutherland and Boyce was procured through the influence of the Guggenheim syndicate because they were endeavoring to obtain the conviction of paid agents of the syndicate for alleged bribery in connection with the trial of Ed Hazy and that the appointment of Rustgard and Faulkner, who are represented as being nothing less than tools of the syndicate, was made in the interest of the Alaska Guggenheim syndicate.

The recital of the allegations made by Wickersham, Boyce and Sutherland in a statement which they have filed before the judicial committee in the form of a brief would cover about four newspaper columns and it is backed up with a mass of documents, affidavits and photographic copies of letters of the most astonishing character, in which the Guggenheim syndicate, through its agents in Alaska, is accused of attempts at bribery, ballot box stuffing, the shooting down of men in order to prevent the building of a competitive road through one of the canons of the territory and with having been systematically engaged in procuring the appointment of federal officials to safeguard its interests wherever they come into conflict with federal activities in Alaska.

Allegations in Charges. In the charges filed with the investigating committee it is alleged there was a fourfold purpose "in securing the removal of Sutherland and Boyce and the appointment of Faulkner and Rustgard," as follows:

"To prevent Sutherland and Boyce from arraying the evidence, indicting and convicting Capt. D. H. Jarvis, treasurer of the Alaskan syndicate, and those attorneys who engaged in distributing a corruption fund for the bribery of witnesses and jurors in the Hazy case.

"To prevent Sutherland and Boyce from defending the Alaska syndicate in the syndicate's proposed litigation to enforce its alleged rights to patent to the $25,000,000 Cunningham coal claims.

"To have in the offices of judge, marshal and district attorney at Juneau, with control of the grand juries, those who would prevent the indictment of Jarvis and those engaged with him in bribing jurors and witnesses in the Hazy case.

"To have control of all those officials who will represent the United States in the trial of those cases which the Alaska syndicate attorneys announce they intend to bring to force the United States to give them patents to the Cunningham coal claims."

False Information Charged. In the formal charges laid before the committee on behalf of Boyce and Sutherland, it is alleged they were removed "on false and secret information furnished by the attorneys and lobbyists for the Alaskan syndicate and Katella company," and that this was intended to prevent the indictment and conviction by Boyce and Sutherland of four agents of the syndicate.

Sutherland and Boyce said the men they were seeking to indict are Capt. Jarvis, W. H. Boyle, who is declared to be general counsel for the Alaska syndicate at Seattle; John A. Carson and Thomas B. Lyons, who are said to have been employed in defending Hazy when he was brought to trial on a charge of shooting down "one Rhinehart, upon instruction, given to Hazy by the men higher up in the councils of the Guggenheim Alaska syndicate," and that it was the intention of the district attorney to bring those men to trial for "bribery and corruption of judges and jurors in the case of the United States against Hazy."

Society

Fine weather tempted a number of ladies to arrange for a picnic in the country today and eight ladies left on the interurban this morning with lunch baskets in hand, bound for the farm home of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. McCaskey. The hostess of the day had heard of the coming of the picnicers and there was hot coffee and cream ready for an addition to their luncheon. In the party were Mrs. Robert Millard, Mrs. E. S. Bradshaw, Mrs. Frank L. Taft, Mrs. Nellie Robbins, Mrs. James B. Fry, Mrs. Will Brackenridge, Mrs. Ralph Magee and Miss Hatterley.

A pretty party was given on Wednesday evening by Misses Corinne and Florida Banning, at their home in Kincaid avenue, in honor of Miss Stella Helmer. There were players for four tables at bridge, there were many bowls of roses, violets and carnations and refreshments of a most tempting kind to please the guests, all of whom enjoyed a delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Max B. Fisher, Miss Evelyn Fisher and Roger Fisher will sail tomorrow in the steamer Amsterdam for their return from a tour of Europe. The party will arrive in New York June 5.

Among the weddings to take place in the country in June will be that of Miss Clara Wyss, daughter of County Commissioner John Wyss, and Nicholas Steler, of Adams township, which will take place in St. Joseph's church, at Hesse Cassel, June 8.

There will be a house party at Rome City for over Sunday and Monday composed of Misses Alma and Clara Kamp, Hannah Bitler, Marie Boester, Bertha and Lizzie Hockemeyer, Helen Sanders, Frieda Stein, Della Breuer, Rickie and Mary Borgman and Pauline Lecker. Miss Ruth Noble, of Pittsburg street, celebrated her fifth birthday anniversary on Wednesday afternoon and with a company of her small playmates had as happy a time as a child could desire. At 5 o'clock Miss Ruth's mother, assisted by Mrs. Jennie Noble, served the children a fine supper. The children who attended this party were Lizzie Marshall, Bora Smith, Reilly Clody, Ethel Meyers, Evelyn Gronau, Evelyn Huxoll, Marletta Schrieber, Myrtle Roberts, Mary Meehan, Mary Piepenbrink, Elsie Piepenbrink, Della Smith, Clara Smith, Evelyn Fiegel and Adella Everding.

One of the prettiest of parties was a progressive party given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gruber, of 406 West Creighton avenue, in honor of their guest, Miss Ida Kitzsch, of Chicago. There were many flowers and ferns which decorated the rooms with the colors of green and white. Smilax, ferns, plumosus and carnations were tastefully arranged and made the serving of a delicious supper all the more attractive. Prizes in the game were won by Misses Beatrice Helny, Amelia Zickgraf and Messrs. Albert Pranger and Gregory Rohyans. There were present Misses Katherine Bauer, Edna Gordon, Amelia Zickgraf, Boryl Obenchain, Louise Helny, Beatrice Helny, Grace Gruber, Bertha Lieder, Emma Grage, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. G. Heine and Messrs. Claude Koeber, Lawrence Lader, Gus Rauner, Will Distel, Harry Wiegand, Albert Pranger, Albert Zickgraf, Gregory Rohyans, Roy Eggman, Will Ruffner.

Vocal Pupils' Recital.

A recital of the voice pupils of Mrs. Clara Zollars-Bond in Elks' hall last evening was one which an audience that packed the hall enjoyed musically and socially. A chorus in which about thirty voices took part and several young ladies in groups of songs, displayed excellent vocal training and understanding and not only reflected much credit on Mrs. Bond but surprised their friends as well. The program was very pleasing and though the solo work was a pleasure to the students' chorus, "The Bonnie Fishwives," by Miles Foster, was even more so as the music itself is lovely and opportunity for chorus work of mixed voices in secular programs are all too infrequent in this city. Solo parts of the chorus were sung by Mrs. Rauck, Miss Carter, Miss Hanna, Miss Helen Peters and Miss Alma Dreier. Miss Peters only had four lines but she sang them so well that the audience regretted that she could not be heard longer, and Miss Dreier, who had sung alone, was heard to still greater advantage. The song groups were by Mrs. Butler, of Huntington, who has a sweet and sympathetic voice; Miss Mabel Carter and Miss Margaret Spencer, both familiar as church singers; Miss Florence Lang, Miss Henriette Strass, Miss Edith Johnson and Miss Alma Dreier. Mrs. Rauck and Miss Edith Hanna had important solo parts in the chorus work. Each and all sang remarkably well and several voices of more than ordinary merit, augur well for the future. Pleasant personalities and temperamental qualities were evident in each singer. Miss Emil Verweire lent her usual valuable assistance as an accompanist. The singers were fairly deluged with bouquets of flowers. The musicale was an invitation affair, the students themselves being the only ones who invited anyone, and in consequence the hall was filled with relatives and intimate friends who were in sympathy with each one on the program.

A PLAIN NIGHTGOWN

BY MRS. JANE FORB.

650
7 SIZES 32 TO 44 BUST

Designs for nightgowns are especially attractive this season, and the materials and trimmings intended for their development are exceedingly pretty. Weaves suitable for such garments are varied, and the patterns in laces and embroideries are numerous and unusual.

Pictured is an excellent model for the woman who makes her own lingerie. It is dainty, yet does not require much work to complete.

The pattern for it will be secured in seven sizes that will fit women whose bust measure is between "thirty-two and forty-four inches. Of material thirty-six inches wide, five and three-eighths yards will be needed to copy it in the medium sizes.

If the goods selected is forty-five inches wide, four and five-eighths will be sufficient.

This pattern is particularly desirable for stout women, as a generous quantity of goods is provided, both back and front, by gathering the material to the yoke.

The sleeves are cut along the most approved lines and so placed that they will not pull or tear.

When planning to do sewing of this character, if a woman will arrange to cut and make several garments at the same time, much labor as well as material can be saved.

To make a number of nightgowns in the quickest and most satisfactory way, cut all before sewing any of them. Women who are accustomed to doing this kind of work need not baste the straight seams before stitching, but all other seams must be carefully basted, and all seams must be finished with French fells.

The yoke portions may be cut from all-over, and the neck finished with narrow edging or formed by joining strips of insertion and shaping them by mitering the corners. The sleeves must be finished to correspond with the yoke. A hem should finish the lower edge of the nightgown.

IN THE THEATERS

MISS BILLIE BURKE COMING.

Will Be Seen Next Wednesday at Majestic in "Mrs. Dot."

Miss Billie Burke will be the attraction at the Majestic on Wednesday evening, June 1. Miss Burke has made only two tours in this country—once as John Drew's leading woman in "My Wife," and once as a star in "Love Watches"—but the impression she made on those occasions was such that now she is received everywhere as an old favorite. Although to refer to age in any way in connection with Miss Burke is inappropriate, for no other actress on the stage today typifies youth and girlishness as she does. That is one of her greatest charms, the quality that has endeared her to theater-goers all over the United States.

In "Mrs. Dot," her play this season—a witty comedy by that prolific manufacturer of stage froth, W. Somerset Maugham—Miss Burke impersonates a young and pretty widow who is so much in love with a young man that she asks him to marry her and gets a refusal for her pains. But Mrs. Dot is a persistent young woman who is accustomed to having her own way and the play shows how she gets it.

HOUSE IN ROW OVER TAFT'S JUNKET EXPENSE

Refuse to Let Meet an Overdrawn Account from Next Appropriation.

Washington, D. C., May 27.—President Taft's traveling expenses and the fact that he had overdrawn his allowance of $25,000 a year voted by congress, led to acrimonious debate in the house yesterday and to a refusal to permit him to use next year's allowance to meet the deficiency.

As reported from the house committee on appropriations the item of $25,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 next, would have become "immediately available" except for the protests of democratic members.

The words "immediately available" finally were stricken out by the action of Mr. Mann, of Illinois, the occupant of the chair, in sustaining a point of order made by Mr. Macon, of Arkansas, a democrat.

It was the western and southern trip made by Mr. Taft last fall that exhausted the white house traveling fund. During the debate Chairman Tawney, in charge of the bill, criticized southern democrats for their attitude in objecting to an appropriation to defray the expense of a trip on which they had been the president's guests.

Mr. Hardwick, of Georgia, drew from

Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, the admission that Secretary Carpenter had given him a list of names of democrats who had accepted the president's hospitality.

The president, Mr. Tawney explained, had made his extended trip through the west and south at the invitation of senators, governors of states, and civic organizations.

"This trip," said Mr. Tawney, "was not made for his own pleasure. Congress was in session when delegation after delegation from this house, from the senate, and from the different states visited him, urging him to make such a trip."

At that time, Mr. Tawney said, there was no appropriation to meet traveling expenses.

"The president informed the chairman of the committee on appropriations," explained the Minnesotan, "that personally he would rather remain at his summer home after adjournment than to make that trip, and that the only way he would be able to make it would be through congress giving him an appropriation which we failed to make at the close of the Sixtieth congress. Now, after the president has accepted the invitation of members of this house and has visited their states, after senators and governors invited him, and while on that trip he accepted their hospitality, they criticize him."

Explanation Angers Democrats.

This statement greatly excited the democrats, several of whom vainly attempted to interrupt.

Mr. Tawney said nine democratic governors invited the president to visit their states, the states being Texas, Colorado, Indiana, Mississippi, Louisiana, Montana, South Carolina, North Carolina and Arkansas. He added that democratic senators from Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia, Missouri, North Carolina, Florida, Colorado and South Carolina, together with twenty-five democratic representatives, had extended to the president the hospitality of their states and districts.

"Is this southern hospitality?" shouted Mr. Tawney, looking towards the democrats. "Can there be a meaner man than he who invites another to accept his hospitality and then kicks him because he accepted?"

Mr. Bartlett demanded to know what representatives had accepted the hospitality of the president on that trip. Mr. Tawney promptly named Mr. Bartlett and his colleague, Mr. Hardwick, of Georgia.

"That is not true; that is false," exclaimed Mr. Bartlett. The Georgian added that he did ride in the president's car, but he paid his own fare.

Should Have Paid or Staid.

Mr. Fitzgerald declared that when Mr. Taft exhausted his appropriation for traveling expenses he should have "had strength of character either to decline some of these invitations or to pay his own expenses." He dismissed the president's speeches on his trip as more harmful to the republic than to the democratic party, and criticized as a remarkable proceeding Mr. Tawney's obtaining from the white house a list of the democrats who "at the request of the people in their communities" urged the president to visit them. "I am inclined to believe," said Mr. Fitzgerald, "that after Aug. 5 no republican governor desired the president to make such speeches as those in which he declared the present tariff law to be the best ever passed."

Bartlett is Indignant.

"The president may think it is proper to furnish my name as one who was on his train," said Mr. Bartlett. "If the president is satisfied with the propriety, with the decency of furnishing the names of myself and my colleague to the gentleman from Minnesota in his sneering attack upon what he calls the hospitality of the south, that is a matter for him. But the president has violated both the rules of hospitality and of decent conduct."

Speaker Cannon took the floor and defended the president in his desire to meet the people of the country.

"As far as his power and responsibility are concerned," said Mr. Cannon, "they are greater than those of any executive on earth except the czar, of all the Russias."

Cannon Favors "Seeing Country."

The speaker said he would be glad to make the president's salary $100,000 annually and he wanted not only the president to be able to travel, but he said he would favor a requirement that every member of the house should see the country for which he was to legislate before taking his seat in congress.

Mr. Mann, being prepared to rule on the point of order, Mr. Macon restricted his objection to the words, "to be immediately available." The point of order being sustained, these words were stricken out, while the appropriation remained in the bill to be available after July 1, 1910.

Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

With the coming of 1910, THE HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, has rounded out a century of business history. That means something in the hazardous business of fire insurance, for four out of every five companies organized in this country have either failed or retired. It means unshaken stability. The smoke of every great American conflagration has darkened the sky over the Hartford's head. In San Francisco alone it paid ten millions. But emerging triumphant from the ordeals of 100 years, it enters its second century stronger than ever.

Unshaken stability for a century is no mean heritage, but age is venerable only when adorned with honor. Honor implies more than honesty. It is the quality which impels an institution to meet every obligation, not only with promptness and exactness, but with fairness and a spirit of equity. That is the Hartford's record in the past, its aim to-day and its ideal for the future. Its policies afford unsurpassed indemnity, and by co-operating with its patrons to lessen fire dangers, it offers continuous service. Its business, scattered among more than 15,000 communities throughout this great land is the best of any fire insurance company in America. Its agents are everywhere.

THE SHOP AND RAIL NEWS

WILL BUILD WAREHOUSE.

S. F. Bowser & Company Have Improvement in Hand.

Through the application of S. F. Bowser & Company for a building permit yesterday, a real estate deal of considerable importance became public. The company has purchased of J. H. Bass the vacant ground east of the old tank plant on Holton avenue, between Fisher and Reed streets, and will commence at once the erection of a building for warehouse purposes. It will be 55x300 feet in dimensions and a track for loading purposes will extend the full length of it. The present warehouse is in the factory building and this room is badly needed for manufacturing purposes. As soon as the new warehouse is erected, the old store room will be equipped with machinery. It is also stated that S. F. Bowser & Company will this summer erect a one story brick building enclosing and covering the 60x340 feet of ground on Thomas street immediately south of the main factory. It is also stated that the company is considering a proposition to build a five story office building. All of these improvements are the result of the wonderful growth of the business of S. F. Bowser & Company.

CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING.

Supt. J. C. Sullivan and Wife Married 25 Years.

Yesterday Superintendent and Mrs. James C. Sullivan celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day at their home in Peru, assisted by a number of relatives and friends. Mrs. Sullivan was Miss Ella Ragan and she was married to Mr. Sullivan at LaFayette by the late Rev. Father P. E. Roche, then the pastor of the Catholic church at that place, May 26, 1885. Mr. Sullivan was then a telegraph operator in the Wabash offices at Andrews, the division terminal at that time. He soon afterwards became a dispatcher and then chief dispatcher and has been the division superintendent, four or five years. He is well known in Fort Wayne and is one of the most popular men on the Wabash.

WILL STAY AT MONTPELIER.

Rumor That Wabash Will Remove Terminal is Denied.

Henry Miller, vice president and general manager of the Wabash, has written Mayor J. D. Hill, of Montpelier, Ohio, relative to the rumor that the Wabash had in contemplation the removal of the division terminal and the shops from that little city. Mr. Miller says there is not the slightest foundation for the rumor, as the Wabash radiates in four directions from Montpelier and that city is the logical point for a division point. The Wabash has made and buried two towns—Andrews and Ashley—and knowledge of this fact makes the Montpelier people nervous.

NEW TIME CARD SUNDAY.

A New Express Train and Change in Train Numbers.

The Pennsylvania will put a new time card into effect next Sunday. The only change will be the addition of an express train eastbound, to be known as No. 48, which will leave Fort Wayne at 9:25 o'clock at night, and will not carry passengers. No. 13, also an express train which does not carry passengers, will under the new time table be No. 49, westbound, and will pass Fort Wayne at 2:40 a. m. The second section of No. 23 will be designated as No. 21 on the new time table and will leave Fort Wayne at 12:20.

CRY IS "ON TO RICHMOND."

And 500 Lutherans Will Obey it Next Sunday.

Harry Pinniger, the local agent for the Lake Erie, says that 500 from this city will go to Richmond Sunday to attend the dedication of the new Lutheran church there. Seventy-five more will go from Yoders. The Lake Erie will have a special train leaving here at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Pinniger, in order to accommodate those going, will keep the local ticket office open Saturday evening until 8 o'clock for the sale of tickets.

PUTTING ON MORE CREWS.

The increase in freight traffic on the Wabash, mentioned by The Sentinel yesterday, has created a necessity for more crews and Trainmasters C. E. Wells has put Extra Conductors J. H. Carpenter, J. W. Greenberger, J. T. Smith and D. W. Freshour on the regular list. The Sentinel yesterday stated that the company was transferring engines to this division to handle the business and today it is learned that there is a shortage in cabooses also and old coaches are being used for that purpose. All the old engines able to move cars have been pressed into service.

GIRLS TO CHEER KNITTERS.

The games between the shop league teams tomorrow will be as follows: Bass and Wabash, on Van Buren grounds; Pennsylvania and Packard's, on Packard's grounds; Electric Light vs. Knott-VanArman, on Heidmiller grounds; and Rolling Mills vs. Knitting Mills on the diamond back of Eckart's packing house. It is said that the latter game will be especially interesting. Over 400 of the Knitting Mills girls will be on the grounds to "root" for the Knitters and the Rolling Mills will not be without a big lot of sympathizers.

AGENT'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Ross Crooks, ticket agent at Gary for the Pennsylvania, narrowly escaped injury at the hands of a drunken man yesterday. The fellow could scarcely walk and when Crooks tried to persuade him to get off the Pennsylvania company's right-of-way, lest he be killed by a train, he pulled out a razor and made a lunge at Mr. Crooks' throat, barely missing his mark. The agent immediately notified the police, but before they arrived on the scene the drunken man had disappeared and could not be located.

RESUMED OLD DUTIES.

C. H. Knothe, who completed the inspection of construction work on the engines built at the American Locomotive works at Pittsburg for the Pennsylvania company last week, resumed his special duties with the motive power department yesterday, with headquarters in the committee rooms back of the planing mills. Mr. Knothe was in Pittsburg about two months.

HANDLED OVER 2,500 CARS.

The Wabash railroad on the Peru division yesterday handled the heaviest freight business that has been experienced within the past ten years, if not in the history of the road. Sixty-three freight trains were moved on the Peru division during the twenty-four hours, which, counting on an average of forty cars to a train, makes the total number of cars handled over 2,500.

WILL VISIT OLD HOME.

Matthias Herres, a car inspector and car repairman at the Pennsylvania yards and shops, will leave tomorrow for New York, from whence he will sail early next week for Germany. He came to America and took employment with the Pennsylvania in 1888, twenty-two years ago, and has never been back to his old home since.

SAVED WOMAN'S LIFE.

Oscar Cotton, janitor at the Bass works' offices, saved the life of a woman this morning, when he grabbed her and pulled her back from the tracks as a switch engine on the Pennsylvania at Hanna street was about to run her down. The woman had walked under the gates and did not see the engine.

TO TAKE DECORATION TRIPS.

A number of Pennsylvania shopmen have planned little excursions out of the city on Decoration day. A. S. Courtney will go to Rome City, F. S. Zollars to Toledo, L. L. Cullen to LaFayette, M. C. Petgen to Rome City and H. G. V. Lapp to Rome City. The latter will be accompanied by his wife.

BACK FROM THE SHIP YARDS.

Thomas J. Golden, for the past five years employed in the ship yards at Philadelphia, has returned to Fort Wayne to remain and has taken employment in the erecting shop of the Pennsylvania. Before going to the ship yards Mr. Golden was employed in the Wabash machine shops.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

E. W. Hans and Ralph Petgen, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

Foreman Ed Hausbach, of the Wabash machine shop, went to Clear Lake last night to remain until after Decoration day.

While lifting a main rod of an engine at the Pennsylvania shops yesterday, C. C. Hake sustained a severe sprain of the back, which will keep him from work for some time.

Foreman H. T. Hogan and F. C. Meyers, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, went to Delphos, Ohio, this morning to inspect an engine for the company.

Two switch engines, No. 17, of the Detroit division, and No. 502, of the Peru division, were turned out of the Wabash shops today and tested prior to going into service.

Rosa Thrasher, a stenographer at the Fort Wayne Electric works, attended the Miller-DelLagrange wedding two miles out from Grabbill yesterday. The bride and groom are known in German circles in Fort Wayne.

S. C. Scott, assistant to the first vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, with his family, will pass through the city this evening, en route to Petoskey. He will travel in his private car, coming in over the Pennsylvania railroad and taking the G. R. & I. for the north.

S. F. Bowser and C. A. Dunkelburg, of the S. F. Bowser company, have returned from a business trip to Chicago. A. Z. Polhamus, manager of the company, left yesterday on an eastern trip, which will include a stop for a day or two at Montreal and Toronto, the distributing points in that part of Canada for the Bowser products.

The remains of A. J. Offer, the engineer who died in Toledo Wednesday morning, passed through the city yesterday en route to Peru, where interment was made today. The deceased was compelled to resign his position on the Wabash about four years ago on account of failing health and until his death lived a practical retired life at Toledo. He was quite well known by the men in the train service on the Wabash.

When an air hose on the third car from the engines of a double header train on the Lake Shore road burst near Laporte yesterday morning, the momentum of the rear cars pushed the tender of the second engine into the cab and crushed brakeman F. W. Davis against the boiler head and injured him so badly that he died at a hospital a short time after the accident. The engineer and fireman escaped injury.

The Toledo Times publishes the particulars concerning the death of Jacob Keller, the father of Mrs. John Brown, of this city, briefly mentioned in these columns yesterday. The deceased was at work in the engine room

Immediately after the disappearance of the Macedonian who assaulted Captain Thomas Toomey at the Bass works at noon yesterday, Capt. H. C. Stoll notified every patrolman on the Pennsylvania from Crestline to Chicago; also every road supervisor, section foreman, station agent and telegraph operator on the line, giving a description of the fellow and instructing them to at once notify the police department of the company if he is seen. None will be caught if he applies for work, rides on freight trains or walks down the Pennsylvania tracks.

A VERY MOURNFUL BALLAD.

"BEWARE!" said the bird with a doleful roar
As he wept by the willow tree
That gnarly and hoar, by the surging shore
Looks sadly out to sea.

"For false is his heart as the supple ice
That glides o'er the raging main
And nips at the tails of the slimy snails
That slither and shriek in pain.

"For never again, though rollicsome rocks
Leap high in the sounding surf,
Shall you twist the neck of the key that locks
Thy love in the sheeted turf.

"Far better to trust to the ample dust
That swirls o'er the murky marsh
Than to seek at noon by the low red moon
For a love so grim and harsh."

So the lady heard the dolorous bird
That sobbed by the saline sea,
And she lashed the rocks with her long black locks
Till the billows foamed like tea.

While the golden braid of the tortured maid
Stood up in its wild despair
As she tried in vain to assuage her pain
By eating her own back hair.

At the pale, cold dawn of the summer morn
The fishermen came and found
Both sea and shore where they were before
And her hairpins strewn around.

—D. V. B. Van Buren in New York Sun.

Rather Disconcerting.
"Mamma," said little Ethel, with a discouraged look on her face, "I ain't going to school any more."
"Why, my dearie, what's the matter?" the mother gently inquired.
"Cause it ain't no use at all. I can never learn to spell. The teacher keeps changing the words on me all the time."—Success Magazine.

Mr. Brandeis gave a chronological resume of the Alaska coal land situation from the time the Cunningham claims were first filed upon in 1906. He laid particular stress upon the contention that Mr. Ballinger as commissioner of the land office was fully acquainted with the situation and personally directed the procedure in the land office whereby the claims were scrutinized.

From Seattle.

He declared that of 461 Alaska coal claimants whose addresses were secured by special agents early in their investigation, 356 appeared to be residents of the Pacific coast and 164 lived in Seattle. Ballinger's home city.

"Among these claimants were the men of greatest influence in the state, financially and politically, and among these were friends and associates of Mr. Ballinger," said the attorney. "While these Pacific coast claimants remained undisturbed by further inquiries into the validity of their claims, most of the others, those residing in Illinois and Michigan, were on Sept. 24, 1907, directed to be thoroughly investigated. Was it a coincidence that the investigation of Special Agent Jones in the summer of 1907 into the Cunningham claims, stopped shortly after Ballinger returned to Seattle, shortly after the agreement between the Morgan-Guggenheim Alaska syndicate and the Cunningham claimants which rendered an early issue of the patents important? Was it a coincidence that an active inquiry was undertaken into the claims of residents of Illinois and Michigan?"

The Cunningham Claims.

Proceeding to the listing of the Cunningham claims in 1907, Mr. Brandeis said that the suspension of the order after Glavis' protest was evidently done by Ballinger with the idea that ultimately the patents should be granted when "this uncomfortable obstacle presented by Glavis' intervention should be overcome." When the Cale bill, which Brandeis said Ballinger had drafted to overcome that obstacle, failed and the law of May 28, 1908, was enacted, "Lawyer" Ballinger was appealed to for aid, not only by Clarence Cunningham, but by "Ballinger's influential friend, C. J. Smith—the senate maker."

He said Ballinger then drew the Cunningham affidavit "containing sworn statements obviously in irreconcilable conflict with the terms of the then existing agreement with the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate of July 20, 1907." He referred to Ballinger's trip east to see "his old friend Garfield" and "his friend and protégé Dennett" on behalf of the Cunningham claimants.

What Was He Doing?

"Why did Ballinger do that?" he asked. "He says that these were not strictly legal services. If they were not, so much the worse. Was this, then, an attempt to capitalize his friendship with Garfield and with Dennett; to capitalize an influence necessarily attending his recent incumbency in office; to capitalize the knowledge he had acquired when filling the important office of land commissioner?"

"He says he was very unwilling to undertake this land office work and that he rather unexpectedly received only reimbursement of his traveling expenses. If this be so, so much the worse. If against his will, and without expectation of compensation, he undertook this service for such men as Charles J. Smith, Charles Sweeney, Horace C. Henry and ex-Governor Moore, then it must have been because their will was law to him. Under their potent influence Mr. Ballinger forgot the rules of professional ethics as he forgot the rules of the land department over which he had presided and by which he was barred for two years after his retirement from practicing before it."

Is Such a Man Safe?

"Is such a man a safe trustee for the people's property?" he demanded. Mr. Brandeis said that when Glavis appealed to Ballinger to postpone hearings on the Cunningham cases until after a field examination could be made, the then secretary drew "strange ethical distinctions." He said Ballinger had felt at liberty to serve the Cunningham claimants, although he had previously as land commissioner represented the government, but on becoming secretary he had felt barred from representing the people because, as he had expressed it, he had "incidentally acted for the Cunningham claimants." Brandeis said that Ballinger had felt no such hesitation in hastening, at the instance of the claimants, the investigation of the Cunningham and other claims.

Trucking Subordinates.

Referring to Glavis' successful appeal to the forest service for a delay of the hearings and his beginning subsequently superseded by the "Inexperienced" Sheridan, Brandeis said that "even Sheridan agreed that a postponement was proper." As to Mr. Ballinger's assertion that he had had nothing to do with the coal cases since he became secretary, Brandeis said: "Secretary Ballinger knew all and in effect he did all. It needed no writing signed by him to do the act. It needed no specific instructions. Those by whom he was surrounded were of that category who 'at the twinkling of authority understand a law' and who would never prove subordinate from over zeal for the public interest."

As indicating Mr. Ballinger's "irresponsibility," Brandeis recited how he had acted under pressure in his various steps in the Cunningham cases, yielding to the claimants when in Seattle and later to Glavis when he returned to Washington, with the claimants "three thousand miles away."

Ballinger as a Witness.

Mr. Brandeis spoke of Ballinger's appearance on the witness stand "with its extraordinary failures of memory, misstatements and denials," and quoted from the testimony Ballinger's cross-examination about the Lawler memorandum with the evident purpose of showing that Ballinger attempted to conceal the truth and evade his questions.

"Such is the conduct, such is the character of Mr. Ballinger," he continued. "Note his associations. He is obviously in the closest relations with men like C. J. Smith, Horace C. Henry and with their associates, Charles Sweeney, ex-Governor Moore and McGraw. He is evidently in very close relations with George W. Perkins, J. P. Morgan & Co., and the members of the Alaska syndicate. Now consider the past conduct of Mr. Ballinger. Considering his character as it has manifested itself throughout this case, do you really think that the interests of the people could be safely represented by Mr. Ballinger as against the special interests of the Cunningham claimants and the Guggenheim-Morgan syndicate?"

Defends Action of Glavis.

Mr. Brandeis defended Glavis' action in laying the matter of the Alaska coal claims before the president by advice of Finch. He said after Glavis had submitted his statement of Aug. 18 last he was not again communicated with by the president before the appearance of the latter's letter of Sept. 13, dismissing him and exonerating Ballinger. He said a "deluge of typewritten matter" came from the interior department in reply, supplemented by oral statements and arguments by Ballinger and Assistant Attorney General Lawler and that Attorney General Glavis had committed to Lawler "an appointee and in effect a subordinate of Ballinger, a man who had a special grudge against Glavis, the drafting of the president's opinion on the whole matter."

Justice for Glavis.

"It is not surprising under the circumstances that the letter of the president exonerated Mr. Ballinger," explained the attorney. He added that it was surprising, however, that the president should have sent a letter which condemned Glavis and charged him with falsehood, with the suppression of truth and with neglect of duty—"a condemnation on charges of the preferring of which against him he had no knowledge whatsoever." Brandeis said that up to that time Glavis had never given to the public a single word in criticism of Ballinger or his other superiors.

"But for this investigation, Glavis, the ideal public servant—competent, faithful, zealous—would have been permanently condemned and held up to public disgrace—without hearing—without even knowledge that charges had been preferred against him. He needed this investigation to give him an opportunity to answer the groundless charges by which the president was misled."

Two Large Audiences Enjoy Programs at St. Augustine's.

The junior and senior music students' recitals at St. Augustine's academy, Thursday afternoon and evening, were largely attended and highly enjoyed by all present. Thirty numbers were given by the little girls in the afternoon and nineteen by the advanced students in the evening. At the latter program Rt. Rev. Bishop Alorling, his secretary, Rev. William C. Miller; parents of the children and other friends of the academy were present. That considerable progress has been made during the past years was emphasized in the work of the musicians. Their rendition of exceedingly difficult selections showed not only considerable ability, but proved the proficiency of the teaching given by the Sisters of Providence in charge of the academy.

OLD PAP PINKHAM.

Awakening of the Jericho Consumers on High Prices.

THE GOVERNMENT IS WARNED

Placidity of the Quiet Town Breaks in a Rally of the Enter-Resolutions For a Charge and Spirited Raid on the Molasses Barrel.

By M. QUAD. (Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.)

MY DEAR WILLIAM—I am no alarmist. I have never alarmed even an old setting hen. Neither do I jump at conclusions. If I owe a man a dollar I take a whole month to pay it in. What I am going to say is that I know Jericho from top to bottom. I know her moods. I know what her people are capable of when driven to the wall. I know what it means when Elder Lyndner Johnson walks about with his hands crossed under his coat-tails and a rye straw in his mouth. Last week Jericho was enthusiastic. There was cheering and whooping and swinging of hats. The hens clucked in the sunshine, and Jericho creek bubbled on its way to the sea. A change has come. Jericho is placid. There isn't a whoop. There isn't a cheer. There isn't a cluck. Mrs. Pinkham has diagnosed the symptoms, and she agrees with me

MOLASSES COME DOWN. that it is the calm before the storm—the placidity that an old cow takes on just before she is to let a hind leg go and plant a foot against your many bosom. Monday morning Silas Goodheart entered my grocery and asked if the price of butter had come down. I answered that I was sorry to say it had jumped up instead. He asked me how long I thought the outraged people would stand it and went away shaking his head and muttering. He was followed by Moses Taylor, who asked for codfish. I had to tell him that codfish had advanced. "Pap," said he as he drew closer and lowered his voice to a whisper, "get ready for trouble! The people have been driven to the dead line. If you have any influence with the president set it to work at once." I tried to pump him, but it was no go. He just gave me that warning and then walked out. I at once lowered the price of butter and codfish and had the same proclaimed through the town, but the placidity still continued. The butcher was called a robber; the cobbler was called a villain; the feed store man was looked at so menacingly that he shut up shop and went to Dobbs Ferry for the day. Tuesday opened with the same placidity. Not a lent stirred. Men simply bowed as they passed each other on the street. Not a cluck from a clucking hen. Mrs. P. and I both moved about as if there was fear of an avalanche.

Symptoms of Distress. On Wednesday there was a smell of sulphur in the air, and at intervals a faint rumbling was heard. I was unusually urbane and unctuous, both in the postoffice and grocery, but no smiles greeted me. I felt myself a marked man. Late in the afternoon Henry Smallman, who is known far and near for his gentleness and the length of time it takes to collect a bill from him, entered the postoffice with a musket on his shoulder. It was the same musket his grandfather carried at Bunker Hill. In a joking way I asked him if he was out for woodchucks, and the look he gave me sent a shiver up and down my spine. The answer he made me was that I had best go home early and not put my nose outdoors again until morning. William, I have fought grizzlies, Indians, wildcats and men, but the situation took hold of me, and I followed Henry's advice. As I walked through the town after closing up I heard whispers and murmurs and the loading of guns, and men passed me without even a nod. Mrs. Pinkham sat down with the symptoms and diagnosed them to mean that something was going to bust before morning. She was correct, as usual. Something did bust, but we had passed a night of terror before we heard the particulars. A public meeting was held at Eagle hall, and the place was jammed with men and women. Weapons came armed with all sorts of weapons. It was announced at the outset that if I appeared and attempted to break up the gathering my life would be taken in five or six different sorts of ways.

Rally of Consumers. Adinabad Smith, who was never known to hurt a fly, was the first speaker. He jumped out and began to shout for blood the first thing. He demanded the life of every member of a trust and flourished a crowbar around his head as he demanded. Adinabad was followed by Jericho Jones, son of the founder of the town. He has been known to faint away at sight of the blood when bobbing off a sheep's tail, but he was all there that evening. He denounced an old sinner and demanded that every grocer and butcher be tortured to death. His countenance took on such a look of ferocity that people who had known him from childhood failed to recognize him. Saturday Spillman was the third speaker. He is a man who will run sooner than fight and has been licked by women, but on this occasion he surprised everybody by appearing on the platform with a pitchfork and demanding your scalp. He charged you with standing in fear of the trusts, and thus bringing about the extortionate prices of living, and he fairly roared for your scalp. They had to tie him up by the leg to keep him from starting for Washington at once. Resolutions For a Change. Silas Goodheart was the last speaker. He made no attempt at oratory, but announced that I should be hung with you on the same limb. No preamble was introduced. The people couldn't wait for it. They just started right off with the following resolutions: Resolved, That we give the president, Old Pap Pinkham, and other heads of government fifteen days from this date to move against every trust in the land; and, Resolved, That if they don't move we will; and, Resolved, That the persons responsible for the present high prices of all food-stuffs, whether belonging to trusts or not, be investigated, locked up and kept for the next five years on a diet of old rubber boots and axle grease; and, Resolved, That we demand a law making it a crime equal to that of murder in the first degree for any person to put meat or foodstuffs in cold storage for over ten days; and, Resolved, That all meats, vegetables, wool and leather be admitted to this country free of duty and that if prices don't come down we will see to it that Senator Aldrich and others go up; and, Resolved, That as Old Pap Pinkham has seven barrels of N. O. molasses that he is holding at 35 cents a gallon we begin on him the first thing tomorrow. William, that last resolution was carried out to the letter. I had scarcely reached my grocery next morning when a committee carrying jugs, pails and pitchforks entered and demanded to know what I was going to do about it. Did you ever read the story of Davy Crockett calling a coon to come down the tree? The coon came. So did I. N. O. molasses went down to 35 cents as fast as soon as I could find a piece of chalk to mark the heads of the barrels, and it was speedily followed by codfish. At this writing I seem to have the situation well in hand as far as Jericho is concerned, but the molasses is going fast, and the outraged populace is going to say and do I cannot predict. Something has got to be done in Washington. Don't be afraid of bringing on a money panic. Let her come and be damned. It's a panic as it is. And meanwhile Teddy is grinning and wondering what you are going to do about it, and W. J. B. is smiling and rubbing his hands and saying: "Didn't I tell you how it would turn out?" OLD PAP PINKHAM. Present Postmaster, You Eat.

SHRINERS TO BE HOSTS. Entertainment Tonight for Masons and Their Families. This evening at the Scottish Rite Cathedral Mizpah temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, has arranged for a concert at which it has invited all Master Masons and their families to be its guests. The musical program, beginning at 8 o'clock, will be given by the City Packard band and the Apollo club. Light refreshments will be served in the banquet rooms immediately following the musicale.

A Thoughtful Lad. A Giddings schoolboy announced the other day that he didn't want to go back to school. "Why not?" demanded his father. "The teacher doesn't like you," the boy replied. "Doesn't like me?" the father exclaimed. "What do you mean by that?" "Why, she—she wants to hurt your feelings."

"See here, my amiable child," remarked the father with growing sternness, "I want to know what you mean by this nonsense. Speak up." "It's like this, dad," said the boy—"The teacher has sent you a letter telling you some things about—about me—an I know it would hurt your feelings, an' she shouldn't have done it, an' that's why I hate to give you the letter, 'cause it ain't treatin' you kind."

Cut Off in Infancy. Mrs. Jones had been reading of germ laden banknotes. "Goodness gracious!" she exclaimed. "George, do you know how deadly dangerous money really is?" "I should say I do," replied her husband. "Look at the number of bills it has killed at Albany alone!"—Puck.

Persiflage on Shipboard. She (on liner)—So you've crossed the ocean quite often? He—Hundreds of times. Why, do you know, I actually recognize about half the waves we meet! She—Indeed! By their crests, I suppose.—Boston Transcript.

The Answer. Why does she long for worry? Why does she wish to vote? Why does she seek the flurry? Where campaign banners float? The answer speedily is writ. "Because she does." And that's enough.—Washington Star.

MR. DOLBY AND WIFE

Latter Learns That Her Husband Enjoyed a Dog Fight.

PACKS SATCHEL AND QUITS.

During Account of Scrimmage Dolby Is Indifferent—Wife Departs—Remembering that Hubby Didn't Know How to Make Coffee, She Returns.

By M. QUAD.
(Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.)

AT the supper table Mrs. Dolby remarked that the deacon's overalls needed patching and that he had better run down to the store and get half a yard of denim. He didn't say whether he would or not, but when the meal had been finished he went. He left Mrs. Dolby clearing away the dishes and talking to the cat. He returned an hour later to find her sitting in the kitchen, with hat and shawl on and a satchel by her side. He knew that something had occurred during his absence, but he was neither put out nor vexed. He took the book entitled "Every Man His Own Lawyer" and sat down to peruse it. He had been reading for five minutes when Mrs. Dolby solemnly announced:

"Samuel, the end has come!"

Mr. Dolby crossed his legs and read that there was assault and battery. A person could be assaulted by calling him names, but battery consisted in laying on of hands and was the more serious of the two crimes. He had just reached this announcement when Mrs. Dolby spoke again:

DOLBY ENJOYED THE DOG FIGHT.

"Samuel Dolby, I leave this house tonight! I just waited to tell you that your reprehensible conduct is known!"

The deacon's inner mind began to wonder what that reprehensible conduct was and his outer to grasp the fact, as stated in the book, that stealing a pig is not legally the same as stealing a hog.

"Yes, it is known to me," said Mrs. Dolby. "During your absence Mrs. Whitman called. After she told me what her husband told her I began packing up. I saw that I could not live with you another day and go to heaven when I died. I shall go to live with my sister. If you get a patch on those overalls you will have to pin it on."

"It happened about six weeks ago," continued Mrs. Dolby as her tears came and she used a corner of the shawl on her eyes. "You had had a boil on your leg. It was getting well, and you felt so good about it that you said you would be a better man hereafter. You went downtown to get a can of tomatoes. You said they asked 12 cents a can, but you thought you could beat 'em down to seven. You must remember, Samuel."

Tarried to See Canines Scarp. Samuel did, but he didn't give himself away. He sat there like a man of stone and read that if a farmer put a five pound stone at the bottom of a ten pound crock of butter it was not arson, but false pretenses. He was pretending that there were ten pounds of butter there when there weren't.

"You had got the tomatoes for seven cents and was coming home when you saw Silas Davis' dog pitch into Ben Steadman's dog. Samuel, did you try to separate those dogs? Did you try to get between them and wave them away from each other? Were you filled with sorrow to see two brutes reading each other? Samuel, I must have an answer."

But she didn't get one. Yes, the deacon remembered that canine conflict. They were two big dogs, and they put up a bully scrap. He almost felt his mouth water when he harked back to that night.

"No, you didn't," sobbed Mrs. Dolby. "Some men came running to part them, and instead of assisting you cried out:

"Stand back there and let 'em chew each other! I will punch the head of the first man who interferes." Yes, that's what you said, and Mr. Whitman was there and heard you. He said you waved your arms and your eyes looked bloodshot. Think of it, Samuel—think of it! If you were a wife could you live with such a husband as that?"

The deacon thought of it and almost smiled. Prettiest dog fight he ever saw—well matched for weight and both full of grit. He'd give 50 cents to see it over again. And the book before him said that to call a man a deadbeat because he didn't pay his debts was libel.

"And you hollered 'sick 'em' at one dog and 'stu boy' at the other, and you kept 'em fighting for fifteen minutes. And when Elder Griscom came along and reproved you you bristled right up to him and said this was a free country and if dogs wanted to fight they had the privilege. Samuel, can I live with such a man and keep my respect for him? I am weeping, as you see. I am not weeping because I am going away, but on account of your wickedness. I certainly expect to hear within three months that you've been hung for murder!"

Conscience Never Touched Him. One of the deacon's eyebrows twisted a very little bit, but as Mrs. Dolby's eyes were full of tears she didn't observe it. He wasn't a bit conscience stricken. He read right along that the owner of a cow laid himself liable to the law if he cut her tail, no matter if she switched it sixty times a minute.

"If you had come home, Samuel—if you had come home and made excuses, but you didn't. You jest strolled in as placid as if you had been out hoeing cabbages. You could have explained that one dog pitched into the other without provocation and that you didn't interfere because you were afraid of being bit, but you just wound up the clock and said it was time to go to bed. That was deception on top of crime. How do I know that you won't smile on me and then chop me up with the ax an hour later?"

Samuel didn't know any way she could find out, and he didn't believe there was a case in point in the book before him. It did, however, state that striking a man with a pitchfork constituted a much graver crime than batting him with a long handled shovel. Mrs. Dolby sobbed and wept. Her tears fell on her alpaca dress and on her satchel, and it was several minutes before she rose up and said:

"Well, I must be going. Little did I think when I married you, twenty-eight years ago, that tonight I'd have to leave my own house because you have turned pirate. Do you want to say goodby to me?"

Nothing from the deacon.

Separation and Return. "Of course I shan't write to you." The deacon didn't fall off his chair.

"And if you come to me on your bended knees!"

The idea of his knees bending worked up a new emotion, and she leaned against the door and sobbed. That was fine reading the deacon had, and he was deeply interested.

"It's night, and I have got this satchel to carry, but if I get afraid or tucked out I can sleep beside some haystack."

The deacon never cracked a smile. She opened the door, and he never moved. She went, but he paid no heed. Even when the door closed he took no notice.

Mrs. Dolby went down the path and leaned on the gate and looked back at the house. No one came to the door to call her back. She put down the satchel and gave it a kick. Her tears and sobs ceased. Had the deacon fainted away? Had he blown his head off? She softly advanced to the door and held her ear to it. No sound. Then she opened it and looked in. Then she entered the kitchen. Same deacon, same attitude.

"Samuel, I was thinking that if I went tonight you'd have to get your own breakfast and you wouldn't remember how much coffee to put in!"

And she removed her shawl and hat, put another stick of wood into the stove and five minutes later was singing "The Old Oaken Bucket" and taking solid comfort.

JURY GIVES HETTY GREEN A HARD JOLT AND SHE SQUEALS.

New York, May 27.—When Mrs. Hetty Green, reputed to be the world's wealthiest woman, heard a verdict returned against her in the city court she changed her opinion of juries, asking if there was no justice for wealthy women as emphatically as she had just previously declared: "The jury is satisfactory. Juries have always been good to me. I have never lost a case."

Her quick change of view caused her to cry "Outrage!" when the jurors brought in a verdict for the Safe Deposit company of New York, which sued Mrs. Green for $569.25 for unpaid rent of eleven safe deposit boxes in their vaults. Judge Joseph I. Green presided at the suit against the famous woman of the same surname.

When the jury returned a verdict after twelve minutes' deliberation Mrs. Green, who had herself been on the stand and said something about "blackmail" in her testimony, showed much agitation.

"Outrage, Outrage!" she cried when the foreman announced that she had lost the suit. "Isn't there any justice for a woman who has money?"

If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

MISS E. A. ROSS, Sharon, Mercer Co., Pa.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

GREAT SUCCESS IN THE CURE OF INDIGESTION

Being Obtained by the Tonic Treatment Which Seeks Only to Aid the Processes of Nature.

The tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for indigestion is having such remarkable success in curing obstinate cases of that distressing malady that it deserves the attention of every sufferer. The principle is that remedies for indigestion that digest the food for the stomach give relief for only a short time. Ultimately they unfit the stomach to do its own proper work, because they make its already weak power still weaker by disuse, while the remedy that strengthens the stomach makes it more and more capable of digesting the food for itself and its benefit lasts. A remedy that is a tonic not only for the stomach but for the blood and nerves as well, invigorates the entire system and makes recovery from the weakening effects of indigestion rapid and thorough.

Mr. Schriver Simms, a lineman for the Western Union Telegraph Co., of Triadelphia, W. Va., says:

"I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to sufferers from stomach trouble because they cured me after I had failed to get relief from the doctors. I began to suffer from indigestion about twelve years ago. I think the trouble was caused by overwork and irregular hours of eating. I had to be very careful about what I ate as anything but the lightest foods would upset my stomach. Gas burned on my stomach, causing me to feel bloated. My blood was in bad shape and my face was broken out.

"I tried several kinds of medicines and took treatment from several doctors but failed to get well. Finally I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by a friend who had not taken more than two boxes before I could see that they were helping me. I took the pills steadily for several weeks when my stomach was in better condition than it had been in a long time. I can now eat nearly anything I want to and feel no distress. I gained over nine pounds in weight and feel better than I have in years."

Our valuable booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free upon receipt of a postal card request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

For Elderly People How the Kidneys and Bladder Cause Pain, Misery and Discomfort, and How They May be Healed.

No matter how apparently strong and healthy you may be, as you approach middle age there is a certain letting down in the physical forces sure to make itself felt. When this happens to the kidneys and bladder, then they do not perform their work properly, and can not until they are restored to their normal action. Weak kidneys, sharp backache and pain over the hips, sleeplessness, urinary irregularities and headache, with a dry and bad tasting mouth, are all symptoms that show the need of a tonic and stimulant for the kidneys and bladder. Foley Kidney Pills furnish exactly the corrective and stimulating medicine needed at such a time. They are antiseptic, healing and tonic in action. They will give first a quick relief, then a lasting benefit and will remove the pains and annoyance that comes from kidney and bladder disorders, which make the approach of old age a time of misery and pain. Instead of serenity and peace of mind, they stand back of Foley Kidney Pills as a guarantee of their efficiency in healing kidney and bladder disorders, and for restoring health and vigor. Foley Kidney Pills are a real boon to elderly people.

Mr. J. J. Jovis, Sr., 420 So. 3rd St., DeKalb, Ill., writes us: "I am 61 years of age, and have just recovered from a very severe and painful attack of kidney and bladder trouble that had lasted for over two years. I had great pains in my back, my kidneys were congested, my bladder inflamed, and the only way I could pass water was with the aid of a tube. Some time ago I bought a 50c bottle of Foley Kidney Pills, and got relief almost at once. I can work every day now, and look well and feel well. I keep a bottle of them in my pocket at all times. I am glad to say that Foley Kidney Pills have cured me."—Dreier Bros.

THE FAIR, 608 CALHOUN ST.

S. S. S. THE REAL CURE FOR SCROFULA

Scrofula is a blood disease manifested usually by an ulceration of the glands. It is almost entirely hereditary in its origin, being the seeds or drops of some specific blood poison which has been transmitted, in modified form, to the offspring of diseased parentage. Where the blood is specially vitiated Scrofula attacks other portions of the system beside the glands, and we see its effects frequently in weak eyes, poorly developed bodies, running sores and ulcers, skin diseases like scaldhead, catarrhal troubles etc. While the young are the usual sufferers from scrofulous troubles, it is true that it is sometimes held in check until middle life is reached, or passed, and then, as the physical system begins to decline, older persons are attacked by the disease. S. S. S. is the one real and certain cure for Scrofula. It is a blood purifier without an equal and so enriching and building up the circulation that the disease can not remain. S. S. S. searches out every taint and impurity from the blood; it gives to the blood the richness and power necessary to the healthy growth of children, and it strengthens and invigorates the constitutions of older persons, by its fine tonic effects. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable medicine, perfectly safe for young or old. Scrofula being a blood disease can only be cured by a blood purifier like S. S. S. Book on the blood free to all who write and request it.

The Multitudes Fed. Matt. xiv:13-21: xv:29-39.

Golden Text—Jesus said unto them I am the bread of life. John vi:35.

(1.) Verse 13—Why had Jesus retired into this desert place?

(2.) Why are occasions of retirement, or solitude, good for the soul?

(3.) What does the voice of history say, in answer to the question, whether a man with a message from God, is always sought after by the multitude?

(4.) Verse 14—What is the master passion of a great and good man?

(5.) Would Jesus have had the same compassion on this multitude, if he had only been a good man, and not Divine? Why?

(6.) Verse 15—Were these disciples too officious, or did they do perfectly right to remind Jesus of his apparent duty, and why?

(7.) What is the use of reminding God, our kind Father, of what he already knows we need?

(8.) Verse 16—How much virtue is there in asking God to do, for our fellows, what we have the power to do for them?

(9.) If you can, give some examples of God doing for us, or others, what we have the power to do for ourselves.

(10.) Verses 17-18—Name your reasons for, or against, the belief that if we use the powers we have, or may acquire, we shall never lack the ability, nor the opportunity, of doing all God wishes us to do.

(11.) What is the benefit to be derived from bringing all our property, and all our powers and laying them at the feet of Jesus?

(12.) Verse 19—In what order did Jesus have the multitude sit down? See Mark vi:39-40.

(13.) What are some of the evidences that God does nothing without exact system, and perfect order, and that we should follow the pattern he thus sets?

(14.) What is the benefit of asking a blessing on our food when we eat?

(15.) Is it, or not, the duty of a Christian when eating, at an hotel for example, to give thanks to God so that those sitting with him can observe the act?

(16.) Verse 20—When God feeds a man, either with spiritual or physical food, what is the effect upon the man?

(17.) Verse 21—If we heard both stories for the first time of feeding five thousand men beside women and children on five loaves and two fishes, and of getting ten thousand feet of lumber from a little acorn, which would appear the more wonderful event, and why?

(18.) Chap. xv:29-31—Has Jesus today lost any of his compassion for the sick and suffering and if not, how do you account for the fact that he does not miraculously cure them of their ailments as in that day?

(19.) What would be the probable effect upon the progress and well-being of the world, if God were to make permanent the method of miracles? (This question may have to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(20.) Verses 32-39—Why did Jesus feed this multitude miraculously? What was its effect then, and what has it been since?

(21.) How does God, in these days, as effectually feed the people as he did in that day through this miracle?

SALTED ALMONDS.

Blanch large freshly shelled almonds by pouring boiling water over them. Cover and stand aside for ten minutes. Then remove the brown skins by rubbing the nuts, one by one, between thumb and forefinger. This process of removing the skins, called "blanching," is easy if the water is actually boiling when poured over the nuts. As fast as the skin is removed throw into a shallow earthen bowl then rub dry on a coarse clean towel. Set in the oven for a few minutes to thoroughly dry. Measure, and to every pint of the shelled nuts allow two tablespoonfuls of the best olive oil, or the same amount of melted butter. Toss the nuts in the oil until thoroughly coated. Then stand in a warm place for half an hour to absorb the oil. Dredge two tablespoonfuls of fine salt over them, spread on bright tins, or in a dripping pan lined with paper, and let them brown in the oven for ten or fifteen minutes, shaking occasionally so they will brown evenly. When lightly colored and crisp take out. If a person has a delicate digestion, the nuts may be salted without using oil. Simply blanch, dry thoroughly, dredge with salt and brown in a moderate oven.

Vacuum Cleaning Before Buying a Vacuum Cleaner

Consult the Traction Company's experts and get the benefit of their knowledge and experience. Our consumers have asked us for a Vacuum Cleaner, and complying with their request, we tested the best makes under trying conditions.

"The Domestic," a light portable machine, weighing about thirty pounds; proved far superior in efficiency and contained more features than all other machines of higher price. We immediately secured the exclusive agency and are selling the "Domestic" with our endorsement. That means something to the customer because we could not afford to represent an article that would prove inefficient or unsatisfactory. A Domestic Vacuum Cleaner in your home insures perfect sanitary conditions. Brooms only disturb the surface dust, while the suction created by the Domestic pump (not a fan), draws deep down through the carpet, removing the heavy dirt and sand, which, when continually walked over, cut and grind the carpet.

The "Domestic" can also be used as a blower, a feature not possessed by other machines, and in this respect can be used to many advantages, such as blowing dust off of pictures, out of radiators, bric-a-brac, etc.

As a whole the Domestic comprises everything found in a higher-priced Vacuum Cleaner, and we will be pleased at any time to demonstrate the cleaning capacity of this machine in your home.

PEASE SOLD DRINKS FROM DOOR OF SALOON

Judge Holds He is Not Guilty—Fined $50 for Assault.

Billy Pease escaped conviction in the city court today under a blind tiger affidavit on a legal technicality, was fined $50 and costs for assaulting a witness after he had failed to get him to go out of the city, and was also acquitted in a surety of the peace proceeding instituted by this same witness.

As the special judge, W. N. Ballou, understood the testimony Pease stood inside the door of his saloon and passed out five bottles of beer for which he accepted the money. The judge held that he had been guilty of a violation of the Nicholson law but that inasmuch as he was inside the saloon when he made the sale and accepted the money he was not amenable under the blind tiger law, which is designed to prevent sales in rooms other than those covered by a state license.

Will File Affidavit. After Pease had announced that he would take an appeal from the lower court decision in the assault and battery charge Chief Ben Elliott stated that he would file an affidavit charging Pease with selling liquor on Sunday and would arrest him again.

John Chapman, who bought beer of Pease on Sunday after having volunteered his services to the police department said that when he asked for the liquor Pease told him he had rather sell whisky as it was less bunglesome to carry and not as easily detected by the police. When Chapman purchased the beer, Pease wrapped each bottle separately to keep them from making any noise.

Hunched the Witness. Chapman also testified that next morning in the city court Pease hunched him as he was standing in the courtroom and told him he should have told the police he stopped at the Pease hotel on Saturday night and bought the beer before he went to bed. Chapman said Pease then left the courtroom and looked back giving him to understand that he wanted to speak to him.

After court, he said, he went to the Pease place and was ordered out by a savage bartender. Later he saw Pease and was asked to come to the saloon. He went back and in the meantime the bartender had been tampered by an understanding that a scheme was on foot to chase the state witness out of town and the white-aproned "gent" was profuse in his apologies for having ordered Chapman out in the first place.

Wanted to Be Sure. He held a consultation with Pease to try him out, he said, and was offered $25 and a ticket to Mortimer, O. If he would stay away. Then Mr. Pease was afraid that the absence of witness might not settle the case against him so he went to Attorney John W. Eggeman along with Chapman and the attorney very promptly refused to go to do with any such nefarious scheme.

Pease then loaded Chapman up with liquor and left him in a room with a couple of bottles of beer and two sandwiches, but the witness got tired of waiting and went out. He visited police headquarters and told what he had done and was advised to see how far Pease would go. Pease bought him a railroad ticket to send him out of town and then when he found that the fellow was working in the interests of the police he assaulted him with a beer bottle. For this assault he was fined.

Guilty Clearly Proven. It was proved that Pease sold the beer and although Chapman did not make a good witness from the fact that he worked under an assumed name and went to Pease's place with an offer to get out of town for $30 the sale was clearly proved and it was shown that Pease was perfectly willing to sell him beer although he had never seen him before and did not know who he was, indicating that he was not a bit particular who bought liquor from him on Sunday.

WHEAT MARKET HAS ANOTHER FIT OF SINKING

Complete Demoralization is Feature of the Day's Trading.

Chicago, May 27.—Wheat was demoralized again today. To yesterday's sensational slump of from 4½c in Sept. to 5c in May the market at the bottom, today shortly before the close showed extreme losses of 2½c in Sept. to 3½c in May. The close showed an average rally from the bottom of about 1½c. This was due largely to the fact that the market for the time was sold to standstill.

May wheat, closing last night at $1.05 to $1.05½, fell to $1.03 as discouraged losses of lesser magnitude unloaded and pocketed their losses. July and September were sold in immense quantities to an extent by foreigners. September closing last night at 95c, declined to 91½c, a loss since Wednesday of 5½c. July sold at 98c as compared with 95½c at the close yesterday, a loss of 6½c in two days.

The bulls have been whipped by old mother nature, as traders put it. Bulls loaded up with wheat early in the season, when prospects as viewed by them looked dubious for an adequate world crop. But in the United States the gains descended and the sun shone to such purpose that the gloom was lifted from apparently bright prospects. Europe predicted unusual crops and even far away India took arms against the bulls with predictions of a record breaking harvest.

ELKHART SHOWS A LOYAL SPIRIT TO CONN

Entire Populace Turns Out to Welcome Him Home from the West.

Elkhart, Ind., May 27.—Loyalty to a man whose great business interest had come to be looked upon as one of the commercial pillars of this city was demonstrated by the Elkhart populace yesterday in a most unusual manner and upon an unusual occasion. When former Representative C. G. Conn, whose great band instrument factory was destroyed by fire last Sunday, arrived at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the Pacific coast to begin reconstruction of his plant and business he was greeted by a crowd of more than 12,000 people.

When the announcement was made that Mr. Conn would cause a new factory to rise over the ashes of his burned plant, where 500 persons were employed, the depression that followed the fire was relieved measurably. When he telegraphed his factory manager from Avalon, Cal., last Sunday, a few hours after the fire wiped out property valued at probably $1,000,000, to "keep the employees together and to start plans for rebuilding," the citizens were quick to grasp the significance of rehabilitating a valuable industry.

They showed their sympathy and loyalty yesterday afternoon in the monster demonstration in which they turned out en masse to welcome the grand old man of the musical instrument world, who, though now 67 years old, starts anew to rebuild an industry that has been the pride of the city for nearly half a century.

The vast crowd that greeted Mr. Conn at the Lake Shore depot escorted him to the Hotel Bucklen, the committee of leading business men having arranged for an informal reception. There he was first greeted by the skilled mechanics, who had donned laborers' garb and during the three days since Sunday, while Mr. Conn has been speeding homeward on the Golden State Limited, have been working to clear away the debris of the razed factory. So urgent are these plans for rebuilding that the men left the ruins in their work clothes a few minutes before the arrival of the train and in this informal attire greeted their chief.

Then followed thousands of citizens who greeted the returned manufacturer, whose sojourn at Catalina Island was rudely interrupted by news of the great fire disaster. It was one of the most impressive demonstrations ever seen here and brought out at least half the city's 25,000 population.

EXPERTS WILL FIGURE.

To Play an Important Part in the Dosey Murder Trial.

St. Louis, Mo., May 27.—That expert testimony is to play an important part in the trial of Mrs. Dora E. Dosey, charged with the murder of Wm. J. Erder, developed during the testimony this morning.

Dr. J. A. Hartman, of the coroner's office was the first witness called when court reconvened, he having been sworn when adjournment was taken last night. The question of whether Erder, when his death occurred was suffering from a malady for which arsenical compounds were used, was raised repeatedly in the cross examination of witnesses by Mrs. Dosey's attorneys today.

Dr. Hartman conducted the autopsy on the body of Erder after it was exhumed following the demand for an investigation into his death by Miss Kate Erder, his sister. Mrs. Dosey paid close attention to the physician's testimony.

PARDON SLOW COMING.

Denver, Col., May 27.—Believing that his application for a pardon had been denied, when it had been continued for further investigation, Moses Freyas, a Mexican serving a life sentence for murder in the state penitentiary at Canon City, has sworn to an affidavit declaring he committed another for which Juan Duran, a fellow Mexican, is serving a sentence. The two murders, which were committed in the vicinity of Trinidad ten years ago, were closely connected. Not until he had signed his confession to the second murder did Freyas know that his application for pardon had been received with enough favor to warrant the board of pardons in making a careful investigation of his case. The investigation will now be transferred to Duran's case.

JOHN L. BASH FROM EUROPE.

Has Opinions of European Politics and Big Fight.

New York, May 27.—John L. Sullivan had a few things to say on the Jeffries-Johnson fight today on his arrival from Europe and then staggered his interviewers by taking a long leap into the profundities of European political questions. The former heavyweight champion has been on a honeymoon in England and returned on the Mauretania to see the fight in San Francisco.

"Jeffries does not need old fellows like Corbett and Chynski in his training," said Sullivan.

"What he needs are young fellows with a lot more speed than he has," said Sullivan. "I never knew of a man who left the boxing game and then got back to form again."

There's always the possibility though," added Sullivan, "for Jeffries is a hard man and a fighter from the word go. If he can get back into shape he's a better man than Johnson and he can whip him. For that matter, who has Johnson beaten anyhow? Ketchel was a good man, but he was no real match for the big black."

BLAMES CLARK FOR IT.

C. S. Bash Says Congressman's Speech Unsettled Wool Market.

Charles S. Bash believes the speech of Congressman Champ Clark, delivered in the house of representatives last Saturday, is the factor that unsettled the wool market all over the United States. Mr. Bash contends that the placing of wool upon the free list with hides would mean a radical reduction in price and he holds that the merest indication of tinkering with the tariff on this commodity is sufficient to thoroughly demoralize the market, owing to its effect upon dealers who are compelled to carry large stocks of wool in order to keep their factories in operation.

The department was called at 11:25 this forenoon to the home of Lawrence Schmidt, 2211 Force street, by a fire which had broken out in the roof of the two story frame dwelling, caused by sparks from the chimney. Quite a hole was burned in the roof. The loss was $25.

At 3 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the basement of the two story frame dwelling of C. W. Greenich, 2421 Wells street, mice and matches being the cause. The loss was small, being prevented from spreading by the prompt attention of the city department.

Explosions are often caused in flour mills and breweries by nails or other iron particles that find their way into the grain and strike the steel rolls of the mills, producing sparks and igniting the finely pulverized material about them. Recently a large meeting concern that had been troubled by many such explosions installed a set of electro-magnets over which the grain is passed before being prepared for shipment to the breweries. All iron particles in the grain are thus picked up by the magnets.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., May 27.—Gigantic transactions in wheat started observers who looked for a whirlwind. Trade was so fast and confusion was so great that individual speculators seemed hardly to count. Prices still plunged downward and some times were at the same moment as much as one cent apart for wheat in different sections of the pit. One fact stood out sharply. There was foreign selling of wheat here on a huge scale. An independent rally in the corn pit surprised wheat speculators and temporarily at least led to a breathing spell to harassed bulls. The pause was the more noticeable as the return in coarse grain was due to purchases by the firm of which the recent bull leader in wheat was a member. The wheat market opened 1/4 to 1/2c down, with September at 91 1/2c to 92 1/2c, and drop of 1/2c to 1 1/2c. The option fluctuated widely within the range and steadied to some extent at the upper figure. May at one time showed a fall of 1 1/2c to 2c at 91 3/4c, but rallied to 91 1/2c.

The corn market was subjected to a sharp bidding up process by brokers acting in a spectacularly concerted manner. The price move was for effect on the plan provided highly effective and incidentally put up the price of corn a cent a bushel. September opened 1/2c to 3/4c off 85 1/2c to 85 3/4c and then advanced to 85 1/2c.

Selling was general in oats, but of a scattered sort, and resembled liquidation. September opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 45 1/2c, but influenced by corn rallied to 45 3/4c.

Trade in provisions was light, but price changes inclined upward. The opening price for pork was 22 1/2c, but the market advanced a little. September delivery reaching 22 1/2c for pork, 12 1/2c for lard, and 12 1/2c for ribs.

HE KNEW.

"Grandpa, what makes gentlemen give ladies diamond rings?"

"Usually the ladies, my lad."

THE BIRTHDAYS.

WE are a numerous family. Of relatives we have a host. My wife has forty-six, of whom she always likes to brag and boast. I have a few, I must admit, not quite as many, though, as she. But when you sum them up it's plain we are a numerous family.

As relatives they are all right—first class relations, I would say. And some there are who live in town, and some there are live miles away. But every week—and here is where I find it hard to practice thrift—I have to dig into my jeans and buy some one a birthday gift.

It's either Cousin Frank or Belle or Auntie Kate or Sister May. Or some one else. It matters not; we love them all, which is the way to treat relations. One should not neglect them or view them with scorn. And, loving them, it's proper to remember just when they were born.

But every week it seems to me, since time is sure and passing swift, I have to dig into my jeans and buy some one a birthday gift.

If I should die a poor old man, without a nickel in the bank, I'd be glad to have a king of high finance in future years I fall to rank. And if when I am old and gray I still must toil for meager pay, Don't come to me with good advice and tell me what you used to say. Reminding me of what I had. Remember I was barred from thrift. For every week I had to pay the price of some one's birthday gift. —Detroit Free Press.

His Voice.

It was at a summer hotel, and the baby, being warm and fretful, cried. "Tut, tut! We can't disturb our neighbors this way," the fond father said, taking the child in his arms. "Let me sing to him, if he won't go to sleep."

He sang, and straightway came a knock at the door and these words: "There's a sick lady next door, and if it's all the same to you, would you mind letting the baby cry instead of singing to it?"—Lippincott's.

Sure Enough.

Mrs. Bacon—I read here that the veins on the back of the hand are every bit as useful for the identification of criminals as thumb prints.

Mr. Bacon (looking at his hand)—Is that a fact?

"Now, what are you looking at the back of your hand for? You're not a criminal, are you?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Heard at the Hub.

"And how old ate you, little girl?"

"Six."

"And how is it you are out walking without your mamma?"

"Oh, mamma doesn't go in for exercise. Really, we have very little in common."—Houston Chronicle.
